Lendon Players Present "Working" October 16-20

By John Turner

The Lendon Players, sponsored by Denise Halbach, will produce "Working", a musical based on the book of the same name by Studs Terkel, October 16-20.

The show, many people seem to believe, is about just what the title says—working. But there is more to these "workers"—they represent real people, from a steelworker to a receptionist; a corporate executive to a newspaper deliveryboy; or a hooker to a housewife. The format of the play shows how these workers are people through their individual opinions about not just what they do but who they are. One character basically states the whole premise of the show: "What you do is who you are."

"Working" is an encore performance of the musical performed four years ago by the Lendon Players. Male cast members include Larry Bufkin, John Turner, Martin Carter, Jason Armit, Brandon Lingerfelt, David McHan, and Kirby Wilson. Female players are Kimberly Youngblood, Wendy Robinson, Cyndi Fortner, Andrea Bullock, Carolyn Jones, Lynn Gleason, and Robin Baker.

The show is directed by Denise Halbach. The music, written by several people including James Taylor, is under the supervision of Robert Lee. Technical direction is by David Hawkins. Tickets for the performances Tuesday through Saturday are $5 for adults and $3 for children. Remember: Hinds students, faculty and staff are admitted free with I.D.! Faculty and staff may make reservations.

Please attend this moving performance and give the Lendon Players your support.

Hinds P.A.R.T.Y. Scheduled Oct. 14-20

by John Turner

A party? Where the focus is alcohol? Yes. October 14 through 20 has been declared Alcohol Awareness Week at Hinds.

The main focus of this activity, according to sponsor Tara Serio, is to "make students take responsibility for their safety from the dangers alcohol can cause." The P.A.R.T.Y. is actually an acronym for "Promoting Alcohol Responsibility Through You," which is the basic theme of the week.

Many activities which allow students to become aware of the effects of alcohol are scheduled for this week. A mock DUI/DOA will be held in the north parking lot on Monday, October 15. The sponsors are providing cups for the activities, called the "Official P.A.R.T.Y. Cup." There will also be a showing of the hit movie "Houseparty" Tuesday, October 16, at 7 PM, with a rap contest immediately following.

At the pep rally on Wednesday, October 17, the group will sponsor a banner contest, with the winners receiving a free pizza party. On Friday, October 19, Project AWARE will have a speaker from Parchman talk about the problems alcoholism can cause. Also, on Wednesday MTV's Fun Flicks Videos will be held at 11 AM in Denton Gym.

Mrs. Serio says that students should get involved through their residence halls and various clubs and organizations.

Beauty pageant scheduled

The Hinds Beauty Pageant is scheduled for Wednesday, November 7, at 7:30 PM in Cain Auditorium on the Raymond Campus.

Entry forms for the pageant are available in the Public Relations Office in the Student Union Building or from Mrs. Anna Bee in the Women's Gym. The forms must be returned by October 30 to the Public Relations Office.

Contestants who enter the pageant must make all rehearsals prior to the night of competition. Any Hinds coed who attends classes on the Raymond, Jackson or Rankin Campus may enter the pageant.

Pageant contestants will be judged on beauty only and the top five selected will be featured in the 1991 yearbook, the Eagle. The pageant, which is sponsored by the yearbook staff, is directed by Hi-Stepper director Mrs. Anna Bee. Staging and lighting will be done by the Circle K Club.

Contestants wishing to find out more information about evening gown wear should contact Mrs. Bee in the Women's Gym.

Eagle Athletes Detest Drugs

By Dee Dee Davidson

As the 1990-91 HCC football season begins, so will a new drug free program for athletes. The name of the program is Student Athletes Detest Drugs or SADD. It is a sister organization to Students Against Drunk Driving. The SADD program has four major goals:

1. To mobilize athletes to help one another through peer pressure to encourage each other to remain drug free.
2. To encourage athletes to take the "Athlete's Pledge" which is an agreement promising publicly not to use illegal substances.

3. To encourage athletes to serve as role models for the entire student body and take the SADD message to other students.

4. To make a public commitment by the athlete. This is the heart of the program which can be achieved by stickers that the athletes will place on objects or hand to people around campus.

Hinds got involved with the program with the help of Rene Warren, athletic director of Hinds. Warren received informa-

Think About It!

By John Turner

As we begin another school year, we all tend to try to make everything exactly the way we want it. Some people complain about the food, others about male/female dormitory visitation, still others about the strict attendance policy. But some of these people need to realize the reasons behind our so-called "strict" policies here at Hinds.

By my definition, a community/junior college is one that makes the transition from high school to a major university an easier one. If some of these skeptics looked at the flip side of their coin, they would realize that these strict policies are for their own benefit. How many people do we know that attend a four-year college, such as Ole Miss or MSU, and end up here at Hinds the spring semester of their freshman year? It is because they weren't disciplined enough in study skills, class attendance, or sleeping habits to be successful at a large university.

Hinds gives us an excellent education plus allows us to learn these habits so we will be resourceful when we do reach a university. The aforementioned "flunkies" almost always return to their four-year schools after a semester here and do very well.

Many students complain that they are stripped of their freedom. Well, this may be true, but try to realize how much of that type of freedom we will have when we're married with three kids? This type of governing is exactly what community college students need in order to initiate success as adults. In other words, it's time to grow up. Hinds just makes it that much easier for us.

I hope students will at least take into consideration these factors when they complain about our straight-edge attitude here. It might shed some light on why things are the way they are—to cause us, even if we don't like it, to be successful.

ATTENDS NATIONAL—These students in the Hinds Community College nursing and allied health programs attended the June 20-25 National Competition for Health Occupation Students of America (HOSA) as winners in the 1990 state HOSA competitions. Seated second from right is Gold Medal winner, Jan Gardner, of Brandon, who won first place in Advanced Nursing Skills. She won third place in that event at last year's national competition. Seated with her, from left, are the Hinds Community College HOSA advisors, Sandra Freeman, of Clinton; and Sylvia Redd, of Rankin County. Standing, front right, is Angela Armstrong, of West Jackson. Back row, from left, are Cathy Sutherland, South Jackson; Melissa Ferguson, Philadelphia; Monica Busby, Braxton; Gordon Stewart, Ridgeland; Cathy Ates, Magee; and Paula Blair, of Braxton. Also competing but not pictured is Kim LaGrassa of Pearl. All are students at the Nursing/Allied Health Center of Hinds Community College.

A Test of Faith

By Tom Murphy

As college students, our goal is to gain knowledge, to explore the never-ending process of learning, and to enrich our overall lives. An infantry soldier's purpose is to be well-trained in combat skills, always ready to defend our national security.

As students anxiously awaited their first day of classes, soldiers anxiously awaited their orders for deployment. As a student anticipates the joy of making new friends, a soldier envisions encounters with the fierce enemy. As the marching band displays a colorful halftime show, soldiers in the Arabian desert display the art of camouflage. As students ponder the complexity of a mathematical equation, the weight of a scientific method, or the events of history, American soldiers are utilizing science, math, and many subjects in the event of making history.

Since Iraqi troops invaded Kuwait in an effort to take over oil supplies in the Mid-East, American military forces have been increasing in manpower and machinery each day. The events taking place in the Mid-East are a big test not only for President Bush and American troops, but for the entire nation—right down to you and me. There's not a whole lot we can do to alter the events that are taking place, but we can keep our faith. We can have hope that we will pass this test and continue to enrich our lives by pursuing a world of peace and freedom.

"Presidential Speaking"

by

Dr. Clyde Muse

We would like to welcome our returning students, entering freshmen, and other first-time students to the 1990 fall semester of the Hinds Community College District. We trust that you will experience a unique and most pleasant educational experience here at Hinds. We feel that you will find our faculty and staff most deserving of its reputation for being dedicated, efficient, eager to serve, and concerned with the needs of our students while providing quality educational experiences for each student.

The approximately 11,500 student enrollment this fall makes the college one of the largest institutions of higher learning in the state. It appears at this time that we will have approximately a 3% increase in enrollment. This represents an increase of about 321 students. The largest increase being 277 academic students. We certainly appreciate the confidence that our students have placed in us by enrolling in our college. Many Mississippians are discovering the fact that they can cut the cost of higher education dramatically by starting at a community college.

The Hinds Community College District consists of four campuses—Raymond, Utica, Jackson, Rankin, and the Vicksburg-Warren County Branch. The Jackson Campus includes the Sunset Drive Center, the Nursing/Allied Health Center, and the Universities Center. We are extremely proud of our student body and the contributions made by our students on our campuses, on the campuses of other institutions, and in the world of work.

Mississippi pioneered the community college movement nationwide. The community college is a uniquely American institution. It is the institution that sits in a position of transition. More than any other institution, it has a built-in natural relationship with working America.

We appreciate the trust you have shown in our college by enrolling and we look forward to providing a quality educational experience while you are here.

This year for the second time since 1980 the Legislature appropriated capital improvement funds for the community and junior colleges to be used for repairs and renovation only. Our share of these funds is $873,120. Plans are to use these funds for re-roofing buildings on the Raymond and Utica campuses and the Vicksburg-Warren County Branch.

In addition, repairs on Harris-Patrick air conditioning and foundation work on Cain Hall will be accomplished.

With the passage of the $5.5 million bond issue in Rankin County, which indicated tremendous support for our college, contracts were let last October to provide Phase III of the Rankin campus. Phase III calls for a classroom and multi-purpose building that will provide approximately 26 classrooms, a lecture hall, and a multi-purpose building. The classroom sections should be available by January 1991 with the total facility being available by the fall of 1991. This campus showed a 13% in students this year—the largest percentage increase of all HCC locations.

In addition, this year a multi-purpose and multi-purpose addition at a cost of approximately $1.5 million will be provided for the Vicksburg-Warren County Branch. This will provide additional space needed for quantity foods, technical labs, and hopefully a lecture hall and library.

I would like to express appreciation to all of the people who have had a part in the improvement of our physical facilities. No doubt, our campuses are the most beautiful and provide an atmosphere conducive to learning. I am proud of the wide variety of programs and services being provided to our students.

Your student officials have been meeting and planning activities for the opening of this session. I am tremendously impressed by the work of your leaders and feel that they have some exciting plans for students for the coming year. Special congratulations are due to the football cheerleaders and Ernie the Eagle on their outstanding achievements at the Middle Tennessee State University UCA College Spirit Campus. Honors received by the squad include: 1) named the "Most Collegiate Squad", 2) first place in chant competition, 3) second place in fight song competition, 4) third place in cheer competition, and 4) three gold superior ribbons and five blue superior ribbons. I would challenge each of you to work with your elected student leaders by becoming involved and supporting these activities.

The past year was a banner year for Hinds Community College athletics. During the 1989-90 season, our softball, track, men's basketball and women's basketball teams brought home state cham-

SPOTLIGHT

By Kimberly Youngblood

Claude Viscarra, a Hinds student originally from Vicksburg, is an exceptionally talented individual. He has been chosen for this spotlight because of his unique accomplishments and background. At the age of nine, Claude move to Guadalajara, Mexico to live with his family. Guadalajara is a small town in the state of Jalisco that believes firmly in carrying out family traditions.

One of the traditions in Claude's family is that one son has to become a musician. So, at the age of ten, Claude began his studies in Music. He hated this idea, and quit a year later. But at the age of twelve Claude was asked to play in his church, and because of a lack of musicians there, he accepted. He then realized that music wasn't so bad, and began to teach himself more and more. Four years later, at sixteen, Claude became the top organist in the "Sanctuary of the Sacred Heart." During this time, he also wrote his first church mass.

Claude's musical talent was so great his High Priest sent him to the Pontifical School of Music, an "honors" music institution which Claude basically described as a monastery. There he studied Liturgy and Religion and stayed until he was twenty.

About a year ago, Claude came to Vicksburg to visit some relatives. While there, he was asked to play a mass at St. Mary's Catholic Church. A student from Mississippi College heard him, and was so impressed he convinced Claude to stay in the states and study organ.

Claude agreed, and studied at MC for two semesters. While there, he composed two hours of madrigal music, which included parts for the flute, guitar, and synthesizer. However, he didn't feel comfortable at MC. He could barely speak English, and was not getting the one-to-one training he needed, so he transferred to Hinds.

He is the only organ major here and one of only a few in the entire state, and he loves it. Claude thinks that even if he were accepted into the best music school, he would still stay here. He believes the environment is much better here, and that the teachers actually care. The only trouble he has at Hinds is finding an English class suitable for his level.

Hi-Stepper Reunion Planned

"Tradition with a Kick," is the theme this year as the present and past Hi-Steppers get together in the Women's Gym on Homecoming Day, at 3 pm.

Video and slide presentations will run concurrently, showing various Hi-Stepper performances from the past, and alumni will make plans about future performances and activities for the coming year.

The Hi-Stepper class with the largest number attending the reunion will be recognized in the stands during the Homecoming Game.

Zandra Nowell, coordinator of alumni affairs, requests that anyone knowing of a Hi-Stepper alumna who is not receiving Hindsight, send her name and address to her in the Development Office.

Entertainment Review

BY JOHN TURNER

As the 1990 fall premiere TV shows begin, many of us will be tuned to our set in anticipation. Many new shows, such as the fabulous Seinfeld, will bring new enjoyment to those couch potatoes out there. But a few of these shows should not even be aired. Yes, I'm talking about the dreaded movie spinoffs.

Every year, the major networks come up with more and more of these crazy siblings to the big screen. This fall season, it seems that they decided to bombard us with them. Shows like Ferris Bueller's Day Off, Uncle Buck and Parenthood are saturating the prime-time schedule.

My earnest plea: Keep these movies as movies! Past movie-to-TV weeklies have ruined many people's fond memories of the original productions. Turning a hit movie into a weekly TV show, and having a continuous storyline about a two-hour plot, should not be allowed.

A perfect example: Ferris Bueller's Day Off. All of us college students remember its perfect charm. When a movie that is built around a certain character—in this case, Matthew Broderick's lovable but scheming Ferris—is turned into a half-hour sitcom, it all but blows everything we loved about the Ferrises and Gil Buckmans of the theaters. Every movie ever made, whether Academy-Award winner or box-office bomb, is unique. The network creators should be smart enough to leave well enough alone—and create their own memories.

Eagles Overcome Southwest Flags

By John Turner

The Hinds Eagles moved to 2-0 against the Southwest Bears, winning 12-7 in a flag-filled, crazy contest. The officials must have believed the game was being held at the United Nations, what with all the flags flying in Summit. It seemed as though the Eagles' luck had taken a vacation for this Thursday night-two missed field goals, a missed extra point, a called-back touchdown, and several big-yardage plays negated by penalties—over one hundred yards of them in all.

The game opened sluggishly but normal. Both the Bears and the Eagles seemed to have a hard time getting warmed up—there were seven punts in the first quarter. The Eagles managed once to move deep into Southwest territory, but lost possession on a fumble at the Bears' 28-yard line.

Then, in the second period, Hinds got rolling. On their opening drive of the quarter, the Eagles, despite several controversial penalties, moved into field goal range at the Bears' thirty. But this is when Mr. Bad Luck decided to make his debut. Hinds kicker Charley McGinn's 40-yard attempt bounced off the left upright, leaving the score at 0-0. A little later, McGinn made another try, this time from 30 yards out, but was wide again.

The Bears took the second-half kickoff and made a serious threat to put points on the board, but Hinds' traditionally tough defense stiffened at about the thirty. Several drives later, the Eagles finally took a 6-0 lead, thanks to Efferin Macon's 33-yard touchdown scamper. Kicker McGinn seemed to get a double dose from Mr. Bad Luck, missing the extra point—the first one this fan has seen him botch since he has been at Hinds.

On Hinds' next drive, Brandon native Chris Bethay punched it in from the one-yard line after two superb runs by fullback Shun White. The Eagles decided to make up for lost points by attempting the two-point conversion, but again a controversial penalty spoiled their try. This put the Eagles up 12-0 at the end of the third period. Several other scoring plays were negated during the second half, including a called-back 30-yard touchdown interception return by defensive back James Dobson that no one in the stands could figure out. Southwest rounded out with a 34-yard touchdown pass by quarterback Michael Haynes to make the final score 12-7.

EAGLES DEFEAT BEARS—Chris Bethay, fullback for the Hinds Community College Eagles, carries the ball in the Hinds second touchdown and giving them a 12-7 win over the Southwest Community College Bears. Hinds is 2-0 for the season and will play Northwest Community College Thursday, September 13, at 7 pm in Senatobia. (HCC photo by Brad Moore)

Eagles Smash Pearl River

Claiming their fourth win of the season the Hinds Community College Eagles smashed nationally ranked Pearl River 24-9 leaving the Eagles control of the South Division with a 2-0 record while the number 7 nationally ranked Wildcats fall to 1-1 and 3-1.

Hinds scored with 4:59 left in the first period on a Charley McGinn 32 yard field goal giving them a 3-0 lead. It was well into the second period when the Wildcats' Rene Suarez put a 19 yarder through the post to even the score. With minutes to go in the second period the eagles took possession on the Pearl River 18 after the kickoff hit a PRCC player making it a free ball and Hinds recovered. Vincent lee passed 18 yards to Albert Sweet for the touchdown and McGinn added the point after to give the Eagles a 10-3 lead.

With only 11 seconds to play in the first half Hinds' quarterback Troy Nelson completed a 30 yard pass to Albert Sweet for another Eagle TD and McGinn made the extra point to give Hinds a 17-3 lead at the half.

Hinds last touchdown of the game came in the third period when quarterback Vincent Lee made a 19 yard run for the touchdown and McGinn making the point after.

In the fourth period the Wildcats made their first TD of the game on a 68 yard pass play from Colby Steward to Lloyd Dedeaux. The Wildcats went for 2 but couldn't put the ball over.

Again the Hinds defense was outstanding holding the wildcats to 227 yards while Hinds compiled 405 yards.

Eagles Shut Out Holmes

By Tom Murphy

The 1990 Eagle football team opened their season with an impressive 17-0 shutout of the Holmes Bulldogs. The motivation of the team was evident prior to the game; enthusiastic grunts and barks echoed throughout as a swarm of maroon jerseys gathered before the kickoff. A massive goalpost sign put the message in writing; "THE EAGLES ARE BACK!!"

As the game opened, neither team established any real consistent drives. The big highlight of the first quarter was Eagle defensive end John Copeland's sack of the Holmes quarterback in their initial drive, showing some defensive spark for the Eagles.

Early in the second quarter, Eagle quarterback and Dallas, TX native Vincent Lee scrambled on fourth and one and gained big yardage. Moments later, Lee threw to wide receiver Louis Carson for a 25-yard score. The extra point was credited to Charley McGinn of Pearl.

As the second half began, Holmes came on strong, pushing deep into Eagle territory. The Hinds defense stiffened, though, recovering a Bulldog fumble and changing the momentum. Then, using the seemingly magical combination of "Lee to Carson", the Eagle offense rolled to another score, with Lee eventually punching in from one yard out. By now it seemed the Eagles had the Bulldogs on a leash. The final points in the game came from a booming 42-yard field goal by McGinn. This year's Hinds team promises to be tough, and they proved it well against Holmes.

Eagles Topple Northwest Rangers

By John Turner

Revenge was sweet for the Hinds Eagles as they defeated Northwest 16-7 in a hard-fought defensive battle. The last time these two teams met was last season in a first-round playoff matchup, when Northwest soundly defeated Hinds 28-0. But this time, the Eagles were prepared.

The game opened rather slowly, with the Eagles and the Rangers exchanging punts on each of their first two possessions. One highlight of the first quarter was defensive lineman James Robinson's interception of a Northwest pass at about midfield.

The second quarter was another defensively dominated period, with neither team getting a lot going. At the tail-end of the half, Hinds kicker Charley McGinn opened the scoring with a 27-yard field goal to make the score 3-0 going into the locker rooms.

The second half opened up a little, to say the least. On the first drive of the third quarter, Hinds marched into Ranger territory, only to fumble at Northwest's 30. On the very next play, Hinds got the ball back, thanks to a fumble recovery by defensive end Steve Clarke at Northwest's 32. This, plus a pass interference call against the Rangers, led to another field goal by McGinn, this time from 34. Luckily, the Hinds kicker broke the barrier he apparently had with Southwest the week before.

Then, trouble loomed. Northwest's Ken Rowe returned the Eagle kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown. With the extra point by Stephen Coker, Northwest pulled ahead 7-6. But Hinds wasn't through yet. After the Eagles punted on their next drive, the return was fumbled by the Rangers, and Hinds recovered on Northwest's 13. Several plays later, quarterback Vincent Lee punched it in from the one-yard line, with McGinn adding the point-after.

But Northwest wasn't through, either. In their first drive of the final period, the Rangers managed to have a first-and-goal on the seven. In a nail-biting goal-line stand, the Eagle defense held. Hinds ended the scoring with a booming 46-yard field goal by McGinn. A three word summary: Revenge is Sweet!

STABLER DRIVES—Hinds forward Robby Stabler drives downfield in the Eagles soccer match against Ole Miss. The Eagles lost 3-1 to the Rebels. The soccer team is 0-1-1 for the season.

MCGINN KICKS—Charley McGinn of Jackson, kicker for the Hinds Community College Eagles had a terrific night against the Ranger of Northwest Community College. McGinn kicked three field goals and one extra point to lead the Eagles in their 16-7 win over the Rangers. Pictured above, McGinn makes a 46 yarder with 2:11 to play in the game. This season McGinn has kicked four field goals and three extra points for Hinds.

Stanley

A systematic starting player who was termed "a good mental ball player," Harlan Stanley, got his start in varsity athletics at Florence High School, where he lettered in basketball and baseball.

As a Hinds Eagle, Stanley was All State in Junior College basketball in 1964; and that same year he was State Tennis Doubles Champion as well as Mr. Hinds Junior College. He was very active in student affairs, serving as president of the Student Government and the Baptist Student Union, and he graduated from Hinds with honors.

In 1966, he graduated with Distinction from Mississippi College, where he earned his B.S. in physical science. He was voted Most Valuable Player at Mississippi College.

Stanley coached high school basketball until 1972, when he received his AA in Secondary School Administration at Mississippi College, and became a school administrator in the Rankin County School District. He has been principal at Pisgah High School since 1984.

Stanley is married to former Hinds Junior College Hi-Stepper, Cindy Taylor Bradshaw Stanley, Class of 1967. They have two daughters; Nickie, a senior at Pisgah High School, and Shay, a sophomore at Hinds.

Alexander

In 1957, Donaldson High School's "Black Knight" was All State and All Southern United States. Because of his legendary prowess as a running back, that nickname accompanied C.J. Alexander when he joined the Eagles that fall.

The '57 Eagles were undefeated, and Alexander made All State and Junior College All American, playing in the Junior College All American Game.

He was MVP at Southeastern Louisiana University for two years on his team and for the All Gulf State Conference. He was Outstanding Offensive Player in the Conference, and Little All American for two years. He was inducted into their Hall of Fame in 1980.

After LSU, Alexander played pro ball for one year each with the Edmonton Eskimos and the New England Patriots, and, in 1967, he earned his B.S. degree in health and physical education from Nichols State College. He has coached in high schools for 24 years, and is currently head coach and athletic director for Plaquemine High School, where he also teaches physical education.

He is past president of the Louisiana High School Coaches Association; Class AAA representative of the Louisiana High School Football Coaches association, and a member of the Louisiana High School Athletic Association.

He and his wife, Beverly, live in Donaldson, and have four children and 11 grandchildren.

Carballo

Jim Carballo was All District for four years, from the age of 14, when he played football for Kosciusko High School. He played basketball and baseball, and ran track; and in 1941, he won the State Championship in bantam weight boxing.

He finished high school and junior college at Hinds, where he played halfback, preferring to play defense, and made All State for all three years. During this time, the Eagles lost only one game, and that by only one point.

Carballo won an athletic scholarship to Delta State Teachers College, where he played football and ran track. After earning his B.S. degree, he coached and taught at Magee High School for five years, during which time, Magee's football team took the District Six title.

After earning his master's degree in school administration from the University of Southern Mississippi, Carballo coached and taught for a year at Pearl High School.

In 1955, he became a counselor with the State Vocational Rehabilitation Services for the Blind, and after seven years, served for 20 more years as director before retiring in 1982. He has been called a national leader in vocational rehabilitation services for the blind.

For ten years during his career, he officiated at high school football games as head linesman and referee.

He is married to Hinds alumna, Evelyn James Carballo, and they have three daughters and four grandchildren.

Geverd

Bobbie Morris Geverd played in two state tournaments during her four years playing basketball at Improve-Petty High School.

Then she came to Hinds where she played on All State teams for two years and was Honorable Mention on the 1950 All State team, scoring 28 points in the semi-finals of the state tournament.

Geverd, sister of 1989 Hinds Sports Hall of Fame inductee, Bill Morris, was "Miss Outside" to Dot Harrison's (Hall of Fame, 1987) "Miss Inside," in the Eaglette forward corps, as she specialized in set shots from way out, thus forming a one-two punch with Harrison's work under the basket.

Playing for the State Board of Health team, The Healthettes, after leaving Hinds, Geverd was called "one of the most outstanding players the team has ever had," by coach Jim Jamison.

Always, when asked to name his toughest opponent in a shooting contest, Bill Morris names his sister, Bobbie.

She and her husband, James David Geverd, live in Columbia, Mississippi, where her main career, she says, has been in raising their three children. The Gerverds now have three grandchildren.

Hines

A triple-threat combination developed on the Utica High School football team in the person of hard running back, Minor Hines. It was there that Coach Les DeVall recruited him from an undefeated team and brought him to Hinds where that winning streak stayed hot for Hines and for Hinds. The Eagles went undefeated for two years, and pushed on to win the National Championship at the Junior Rose Bowl.

Hines as All America in 1954, and in December of that year, his home town of Utica claimed him with a "Minor Hines Day."

Hines was well known for leading with his head, and for that reason his football career was brought down along with an opponent during spring practice at Louisiana State University. When a bad concussion pushed him permanently out of football, Hines honored his scholarship with LSU by serving as the team's manager. He earned a letter and membership in the National L Club.

After his 1957 graduation from LSU, Hines served for two years in Korea, where he was a captain of the 1st Corps baseball team which had a 55-3 record.

Later, he worked in management positions for several contracting companies, and is currently division manager for Circle, Inc.

Hines and his wife, Dorris, have three children, and live in Gretna, Louisiana.

pionship titles. Hinds coaches honored as Coach of the Year in their respective sports were Mike Smith, track; Deborah Nichols, softball; Joe Nelson, men's basketball; and Dr. Cleon McKnight, tennis. The college prides itself on these accomplishments.

In summary, we reaffirm our commitment to quality education for all high school graduates and adults. We propose to continue to work with our colleges and universities to facilitate the transfer of students and credits. We reaffirm our commitment to the "open door" of educational opportunity.

We certainly hope that you will find the year just as exciting and rewarding as we feel it will be. Your learning resources are here - faculty, staff, facilities and opportunities. They are yours for the asking.

Trustmark offers HCC scholarships

Approximately 125 scholarships will be offered in 1990 to economically-disadvantaged students at Hinds and Holmes community colleges, by Trustmark National Bank, according to Frank Day, chairman and CEO of Trustmark.

The scholarships, which are for $100 each semester, are designed to supplement the cost of a college education not covered by federal financial aid. "Our purpose is to provide the extra dollars needed for students who otherwise could not go to college," says Day. "Ultimately, our community will benefit as these students become productive members of the work force and community."

Dr. Muse states, "This business and education partnership guarantees at least two years of college for students who have limited family resources for college education expenses. It also sends a message to current high school students, 'do well, stay out of trouble, and you can go to college.' The program will influence the quality of life of many individuals."

To qualify for the Trustmark Scholarship Program for Graduating Seniors, a student must apply to Hinds or Holmes Community College; be from a household with a combined income of $15,000 or less; be a 1990 high school graduate; have a "C" or better average; not have a record of disciplinary problems; and have a composite score of 12 or more on the ACT. Applications and information about the scholarship program are available from the Development Office (857-3363). Students should apply as soon as possible.

ATTENTION FALL GRADUATES

Graduation applications must be turned to the Office of Admissions and Records by October 3, 1990.

Will Hickman, Alumnus of the Year

'Service is the price you pay for the space you occupy.'

(Reprinted from the 1990 Fall Hindsight)

Will Hickman, senior member of the Oxford law firm of Hickman, Rayburn & Goza, and president of the Board of Trustees for the State Institutions of Higher Learning, is the 1990 Hinds Community College alumnus of the Year. He will be honored during the Alumni Luncheon, October 6 at 11:45 AM in Moss Hall Cafeteria on the Raymond Campus.

In 1943, the Hinds Junior College Eagle yearbook described Hickman as "friendly, pleasant and content with life." Sitting in his Oxford offices 48 years later, those words still fit.

The firm's office is a restored 1870s antebellum home, with tall ceilings, old wood, muted lighting, and a narrow staircase that leads to the law library; together these things convey a sense of reverence that comes with age.

The walls of his office are covered with scattered photos which journey through Hickman's life. Perched on a table top behind his desk is a photo of "his girls"; wife, Dewey, and their three daughters. His conversation frequently moves to his family, his seven grandchildren. He is a grandfather who was at the hospital for the birth of each of them.

Hickman is tall, his voice eloquent, his hair silver and brushing his collar, and his manner gracious, as he says about Hinds, "It was a welcoming place, if you had a problem, there was someone to go to."

It was a good place for Hickman, a boy from Monticello, Mississippi, who used to go to the courtroom of his uncle, a Mississippi Supreme Court judge. There he would listen to the cases and dream about being a lawyer. Today he is one of the few Mississippi lawyers who have orally argued a case before the United States Supreme Court.

He graduated from Monticello High School in 1941. "Economic conditions were bad in this state . . . college was a dream," he explains. His father died when he was 12 and his mother worked to support the family.

Then A.L. Denton, basketball coach at Hinds came to Monticello and offered him a basketball scholarship. "He was a coach, a disciplinarian, but he had the patience of Job," Hickman says about Denton.

Nearly 50 years later, Hickman still remembers others at Hinds who had an impact upon his life. "The faculty was darn good," he says, noting Miss Hearst, who taught chemistry; Miss Boyd, his English teacher; Mrs. Samuels, his math instructor; and W.B. Horton, the dean of men.

At Hinds, Hickman played basketball for two years. Off Season he worked as a janitor for the College. After the basketball season in 1943, he left, like many of his classmates, and enlisted in the United States Army. The 1943 Eagle reads "...dedicated to the faculty and students who are now in service of our country."

Hickman subscribes to the philosophy, "Service is the price you pay for the space you occupy," he says. And when someone is shouldering a responsibility, someone else is carrying his load for him.

At home that someone is his wife, Dewey Cobb Hickman. "I must give my wife a great, great amount of credit." They met while students at Millsaps where Hickman enrolled after serving in the European Theater in World War II. When Hickman went to law school at Ole Miss she taught school to pay the family bills. "She laughs now and says for years she never saw a check," Hickman chuckles.

At the office, Hickman credits his partner Tommy Rayburn for shouldering the load which has allowed him to participate so actively in his profession, community and state.

He is past president of the Lafayette County Bar Association, the North Mississippi Industrial Development association, the Oxford-Lafayette County Chamber of Commerce, the Oxford Junior chamber of Commerce and the Third Circuit Court district Bar Association. He is a former commissioner of the Mississippi State Bar, Mayor Pro Tempore and two-term alderman for the City of Oxford, and former chairman of the Lafayette County Democratic Executive committee.

Oxford-Lafayette County has presented to him the Distinguished Service Award and the Citizen of the Year Award. He was a member of the higher education support group, Committee of 60, which influenced the Legislature to rethink its support of colleges and universities in 1988.

The talk turns to education and he says, adamantly, "Education must be a priority, but not only in adopted programs. Adequate funding must be provided. . . It is useless to promote a program if the funding is not adequate!"

Hickman was appointed to IHL in 1985 by Governor Bill Allain. This year he serves as president of that board.

"No one disagrees with the statement that education is the key to economic development. This must be communicated to the rank and file, the people of our state. . . excellence in education, from the bottom up," says Hickman.

He tells of the middle-aged highway flagman he saw on his way to work that morning, probably a man with a family to support. "He's a flagman now and he'll probably be a flagman all of his life," Hickman says.

"If you miss it on the bottom, it's hard to get it on the top," he believes.

Hinds Junior College was a part of Hickman's "getting it." He says, "I guess if there's any one thing I would recall, it is that you were someone (at Hinds)." For Hickman, a boy living in rural Mississippi during hard times, that meant a lot and it helped him to achieve a lot.

Tickets for the Alumni Luncheon on October 6 may be reserved by contacting the Development Office, 857-3363.

Cafeteria makes changes

by Sonia Burlison

New changes that have taken place here on campus now give students choices. Valley Food Service, which manages the Raymond campus cafeteria, listened to the opinions of last year's Hinds students via the Associated Student Government and made these changes.

In the past, Meal Plan 1 was automatically assigned for dorm students unless otherwise stated. This meant 10 meals per week Monday through Friday, to be used daily. However, students beginning the fall semester are now receiving the new Meal Plan 1, which consists of 14 meals per week to be used during a week starting on Saturday and ending on the following Friday. This will enable students who reside in the dorms on weekends to have 2 meals per day all week and students who travel home will have 3 meals per day Monday through Thursday with two on Friday.

Another change is one that helps students who work. Working students who are unable to eat a meal during the regular cafeteria hours are now able to pick up a boxed lunch or dinner earlier in the day.

"Letting us know what you wanted last year is working," said Gary Whittemore of Valley Foods. He encourages students to voice their opinions about the cafeteria. "We're there to serve the student," he continued.

Whittemore also added that although the cafeteria is open for lunch from 10:30 AM until 1:15 PM, the biggest crowd is seated between 11:45 and 12:15. To avoid the long line and seating problems, he urges students to eat earlier.

Board adopts new policies

The Hinds Community College Board of Trustees has adopted policies concerning students called to active military status, and the banning of weapons on College premises.

Hinds Community College students who are placed on active duty as members of the Mississippi National Guard, the Mississippi State Guard, or any of the reserve components of the armed forces of the United States, by the order of the President of the United States, will be allowed to withdraw from the College with full tuition and fees refunded, and room and board fees prorated. Such students who have completed at least 3/4 of the semester in good standing and need only to take the final exams to complete the semester, have the option to leave the College without class standing being affected, and without a refund, if, within 90 days after release from active duty, they arrange to take the final examinations. Final grades will be determined by the final exams plus the grades earned before the leave, according to the policy. An estimated 300 Hinds Community College students could be affected by this policy, according to sources.

In other action by the Board at their September 5 meeting, trustees banned the possession of all weapons from the premises of all locations of the College, including the Hinds Agricultural High School. In the policy statement, only authorized law enforcement personnel will be allowed to carry weapons on College property; and the possession, by a student or other unauthorized person, of a valid permit to carry a weapon, will not be recognized by College authorities.

The highest honor a squad can win is being named "Most Collegiate Squad" and the Hinds cheerleaders captured this title also beating out national champs Southern University.

"Their hard work and dedication throughout the summer prepared the cheerleaders well for the competition. They were mentally, physically and emotionally ready when they attended the camp and performed at their best," said cheerleader sponsor Lou Anne Askew.

Serving as 1990 football cheerleader are: Melissa Fant, Jackson; Jill Carruth, Jackson; Lisa Walker, Jackson; Traci Martin, Jackson; Robbie James, Raleigh; Quanda Keys, Brandon; Sharon Wilkerson, Jackson; Leigh Knighton, Jackson; Tanya Shows, Mendenhall; Victoria Holland, Jackson; Amy Rice, Pearl; and Cathy Gee, Vicksburg. ## Training Center under way

Dr. Clyde Muse, president of Hinds Community College, announced today that plans will proceed to construct a first class Executive Conference and Training Center located on the Raymond Campus. Slated for completion in the summer of 1992, the Conference Center will serve businesses in the greater Jackson/Vicksburg area and other parts of the counties of the Hinds District.

The Executive Conference and Training Center will be available for use by organizations throughout the area for training, planning and review meetings, staff development sessions and other business enhancement purposes. These sessions may be conducted directly by businesses or in conjunction with the resources of Hinds Community College. The Executive Conference and Training Center will also be used by chambers of commerce, economic development agencies, and other groups promoting the start-up, relocation, and expansion of new business in the area. The Center will enable these services to be provided to more organizations; thereby, facilitating the growth of Mississippi's economy.

In addition to meeting facilities, the Center will feature a Mississippi Economic Development Showcase, a special section of interactive exhibits designed to present successful Mississippi companies and to explain the benefits available to businesses which locate in the state.

As part of this complex, the Training Center will focus on promoting economic development in the area by meeting the training and development needs of business, government, and industry and will house the Resource and Coordinating Unit for Economic Development (RCU) of Hinds Community College. Currently, this program has provided assistance and information to over 70 different businesses and industries who have expressed an interest in locating in the area and has trained over 5,400 people in its second year of operation. The programs include Industrial Services, Business and Government Services, Computer Training, Work-Place Literacy, and Small Business Development. The new facility will allow for the expansion of this program.

The Executive Conference and Training Center will include a 150 seat multimedia Auditorium, training rooms, conference/meeting rooms, support service center, executive dining facilities, 46 private guest rooms, and two executive suites. ## Editorial

At The Crossroads

During the 1980's Americans enjoyed unparalleled prosperity. When Ronald Reagan became President, the United States was headed toward a depression. President Reagan gave Americans a reason to feel good about themselves and their country.

He took America from the brink of depression to an extreme level of prosperity.

At the beginning of the 80's gasoline costs were about $1.30 a gallon. As the 80's progressed we saw gas prices dip to as low as 75 cents a gallon. We also saw a change in the American family where the average family owned two or more automobiles, took expensive vacations, and developed a taste for other luxuries.

As 1990 comes to a close we see gas prices ballooning from 75 cents a gallon back up to about $1.40 a gallon.

American families are taking fewer expensive vacations and buying fewer other luxuries. We are rapidly approaching the point of having to decide where our priorities lie. Is it with American family unit and economic prosperity or do they lie with the well being of the third world countries and economic despair for Americans?

America has reached the cross-roads and we, as Americans, must choose our path carefully or we may repeat one of the most terrible points in American history . . . The Great Depression.

Gasoline bluz hits students

by John Turner

OK, fellow college students, we all know this scene.

7:54 AM

You're hauling major tailpipe on your way to your eight o'clock class. It hasn't been a good month financially, and you can barely afford a Coke from the convenience store between classes; that means, of course, your gas gauge needle is teasingly bouncing around down there somewhere below the "E".

7:57 AM

Thank heavens, I've made it! School is only a mile or so away! If I can just get up this last hill, I'll have enough momentum to roll the rest of the way to school.

7:58 AM

I hate flagging down cars... (of course, whenever this happen, all your friends happen to drive by at once and they enjoy a wonderful laugh as they sail by -- they can't be late for their classes, you know.

8:08 AM

You finally arrive at your class. You're too embarrassed to use the old "Ran Out of Gas" routine, so you make up some story about a death in the family or some old thing.

1:13 PM

What to do now? No one's at home, and you feel too stupid and poor to ask someone for some money. And you're not going to WALK home -- that's even worse humiliation. What do you do? I'll tell you what I'd do. I'd buy a good ten-speed...

We all know this type of problem very well. Gasoline has always been relatively expensive for people our age -- us college kids can't remember back among the Stone Age when gas was below a dollar. And with gas soaring ever higher because of the Middle East crisis, we are going to have to start using even less (yes, kids, that means we can't make all those trips to New Orleans at a drop of a hat -- and you know who you are).

But what can we do to conserve? It's really hard to break a "lifelong" habit of driving everywhere. Perhaps carpooling is the answer. But try and imagine how many of us are going to be willing to be cooped up with old Fred who has forgotten what a bar of Ivory looks like? No, college students these days are too independent to do such a thing as that.

So what's the answer? Perhaps a combination of all of our gas-saving methods -- bikepooling! No, seriously. We must examine very closely how much gas we use. A student who commutes from Jackson may use as much as five dollars per day going to and from Hiney-Ho. Add to that the travelling done at night -- perhaps going to and returning from work, visiting friends, or other miscellaneous ventures on the roads. As long as people are aware of the problem we are facing; it is rumored that gasoline is above two dollars per gallon already in Chicago. We must begin our gasoline-saving practices now, before the real problem hits. Maybe cut out that trip down to the video store for a movie. Perhaps walk down to the Tote-Sum for a candy bar instead of burning half a gallon to drive there. We all know it's not going to be easy, but it can be done. Just ask Fred! He is refusing to use gas to go to the drugstore to buy that bar of soap.

Well, maybe you don't have to go that far.

tracks, exercise facilities, lake with boat dock and fishing facilities, and an eighteen hole golf course, currently under renovation.

The components of the Center are designed to meet the needs of modern business. The auditorium will feature advanced film and video project systems. All conference rooms will have flexible seating. Built-in video production capabilities will allow for ease of documenting important sessions. Business support services such as computers, fax machines, copiers and other business tools will be conveniently located in the Center.

The estimated cost of construction will be $3 million exclusive of land and site costs. One-third of the funds needed for construction and operation have already been generated by a unique corporate sponsorship program currently underway.

Hinds Community College is Mississippi's second largest post secondary educational institution. Its mission in designing the Executive Conference and Training facility is to help provide a highly skilled, technically trained, flexible workforce which will help established businesses grow, while promoting the positive aspects of the area, thus attracting new business and industry. Dr. Muse state, "At present, there are no conference facilities designed to meet the needs of businesses in the Jackson area or to showcase the products and business success stories of our state. By answering this need, we are placing a high priority on assisting in the economic development of Mississippi."

SPOTLIGHT

(Reprinted from Hindsight Fall 1990)

Between the two of them they gave 73 years of quality teaching to Hinds Community College; and in retirement, Emma and T.T. Beemon are still giving of their time talents and support to the College.

In recognition of their selfless service, the Hinds Community College Alumni Association honored the Beemons at the October 6 Homecoming as the 1990 Alumni Service Award recipients.

As instructors, the Beemons were actively involved with and available to Hinds students on an extra-curricular basis as club sponsors, and are remembered by many students. Bill Davis, retired chairman of the Raymond Campus biology department says, "Frequently, when former Hinds students are encountered, their first question will be, 'How are the Beemons?' This indicates that many people tend to associate the Beemons with Hinds and also attests to the positive influence the Beemons have had on the total life of their students."

T.T. Beemon retired in December of 1983, after 37 years teaching biology. Emma Beemon retired in June, 1986, after teaching mathematics for 36 years. Through all of this time, both have been faithful and enthusiastic supporters of all things Hinds, while at the same time they have been very active in the larger community.

Davis states, "Seldom can one attend a (Hinds) sports event, a community tea or shower, or civic club, an open house, or other social or civic activity without encountering one or both of the Beemons."

The Beemons have kept formal ties with the College through the HCC Alumni Association as members of the Faculty/Staff Alumni Chapter, and the Development Foundation. Mrs. Beemon has served the Faculty/Staff Chapter as vice president for five years, and, according to Lou Anne Askew, president of the chapter, "The Beemons are both willing to serve on any committee assignment given to them." Mr. Beemon has been a member of the Development Foundation Board of Directors for several years.

More informally, but with no less commitment, the Beemons have been dependable volunteers for any activity requiring their unique decorating skills. For the past several years they have decorated banquet rooms for homecoming events such as the Sports Hall of Fame; been in charge of the table and food arrangements for various College functions, including the annual alumni picnic; and they have worked on decorating for the President's Christmas Reception, and the recent "Fifties Reunion." Wherever the "Beemon touch" appears, it adds to the festive spirit and the enjoyment of many people.

Zandra Nowell, coordinator for alumni affairs, says, "Mr. and Mrs. Beemon are the most

Entertainment Review

ABOVE THE LAW had an interesting story, but very few action scenes. HARD TO KILL displayed plenty of action, yet it had a laughable plot. I was beginning to think Steven Seagal could only make uneven martial arts movies, but MARKED FOR DEATH proved me wrong. This is not only Seagal's best movie, it is also the best action film since the original DIE HARD.

The story is presented in a credible and straight-forward manner. A disillusioned DEA officer battles Jamaican crack dealers who are terrorizing his hometown. He eventually journeys to Jamaica to kill their seemingly invincible leader, a demonic kingpin named Screwface (convincingly played by Basil Wallace).

A simple plot with action scenes that are anything but simple. One memorable scene begins as a routine car chase and then culminates into a breathtaking fight sequence. Seagal's aikido techniques have never looked this impressive. The audience was on the edge of their seats every time he twisted and attacker's arm or threw a series of lightning-fast punches. There is also a climactic swordfight that ranks with the best of Japan's samurai epics.

If you're in the mood for a great action thriller, MARKED FOR DEATH is the one to see. It even has a terrific reggae soundtrack featuring Jimmy Cliff. I can't wait to see if Seagal's next production can top this.

Eagles lose to Delta, Co-Lin

by John Turner

The Hinds Eagles received their first loss of the 1990 season at Mississippi Delta, playing a hard-fought but unlucky contest. The Eagles sustained a tough injury, several called-back plays, and a hard game by the Delta Trojans to lose 26-18.

In the first period, both teams looked very tough. The Trojans fumbled the Hinds kickoff to open the game, and the Eagles recovered on the Delta 43. But just a few plays later, the Hinds offense attempted to convert a fourth-and-two play, but the Delta defense held, turning the ball over. With 7:08 left in the opening quarter, kicker Charley McGinn for Hinds booted a 45-yard field goal, giving the Eagles a 3-0 lead. Later, after a good drive that included some excellent running by Troy Nelson and Efferin Macon, McGinn attempted another, this time from 54 yards, but barely missed.

The Hinds defensive unit looked tough in the second quarter. After a good scamper by Trojan running back Mark Mitchell to the Eagle 12, Hinds defensive end John Copeland sacked the Delta quarterback and forced a 37-yard field goal by Trojan kicker Tom Burke. Copeland shined on the defensive side of the football for the entire game, including one other sack later in the second period. But Delta wouldn't be denied, scoring a 5-yard touchdown with little time remaining in the half to put them ahead 10-3 going into the fieldhouse for halftime.

The second half started rather sluggishly, with both teams exchanging punts in their initial drives. Then, midway through the third quarter, the big action began. After a fumble recovery by James Gayden, the Eagles drove it over, with Vincent Lee scoring from nine out on the keeper; McGinn added the PAT to tie the score at ten.

Then, the worst happened. With 2:03 remaining in the third quarter, Hinds quarterback Lee sustained a bad injury, halting the game for about twenty minutes. From the looks of things on the field at that point, this reporter, along with everyone else in the stands, thought Lee was badly hurt. He was rushed by ambulance to a hospital, and has recovered by now, thankfully.

In the fourth period, the Delta offense continued their attack. Eagle quarterback Nelson apparently fumbled—even though it looked very much like an incomplete pass—and the Delta defense recovered on Hinds' 20. A few plays later, the Trojans' Williams again scored, this time from the six. After Burke's extra point, Delta widened the gap to 24-10.

The next time the Eagles had the ball, trouble loomed again. A fumbled pitch deep in Hinds' own territory ended up as a safety for Delta, now ahead 26-10.

A few drives later, Hinds looked to be on a comeback. Nelson passed several times to Albert Sweet to get close to Delta's end zone, but McGinn's 35-yard three-pointer was off the mark. But the Eagles kept fighting; with 1:49 left in the game, Nelson again went to Sweet for a 43-yard scoring toss, and then Nelson kept for the two-point conversion to close the gap to 26-18.

Then, it seemed as though the Eagles would never die. The Hinds kickoff team recovered an onside kick, and began their march toward victory. But an obvious pass interference call was overlooked by the officials. Hinds made a valiant attempt to put it over, but time ran out.

Co-lin

The Wolves of Copiah-Lincoln Community College defeated the Eagles of Hinds Community College 22-17 to take the lead in the South Division with a 4-0 record and 6-1 overall while the Hinds' Eagles move to a 3-1 division record and a 5-2 overall record.

Fifteen of the Co-Lin points came from kicker Greg Scoggins making 5 of 7 field goals during the game. His first came midway through the first period when he made a 31-yarder.

With 2:04 left to play in the first period, Hinds' Vincent Lee made a 1-yard run for the Eagles to give them a TD and Charley McGinn added the point after giving Hinds a 7-3 lead over the Wolves.

The second period found the Eagles unable to score, but not so for the Wolves who put 10 points on the board. With less than 2 minutes gone off the clock in the second period Scoggins made a 43 yard field goal. Shortly after, when Co-Lin recovered a Hinds fumble, the Wolves made their only touchdown of the game when Michael Cooper completed a 34-yard pass to Scott Harris and Scoggins added the point after putting the Wolves ahead 13-7 at the half.

In third period action Scoggins made a 35-yard field goal but later missed a 42-yard attempt. With 2:13 to play in the period Hinds made their last TD of the game when Vincent Lee made an 8-yard run and McGinn made the point after.

As the fourth period opened Co-Lin had a 16-14 lead over Hinds when Charley McGinn made a 35-yard field goal to give the Eagles a 1 point edge.

Soon after Scoggins missed a 42-yard attempt; but as the clock showed 1:55 to play, Scoggins put a 29-yarder through the post. With 55 seconds to play Scoggins again made a 35-yard field goal to give the Wolves their 22-17 win over the Eagles.

Eagles show spirit in 28-12 homecoming win

by John Turner

The Hinds Eagles showed a lot of spark and spirit in their 28-12 Homecoming victory over the East Central Warriors, with strong showings on both offense and defense.

The game started out bleakly for the Eagles, with East Central getting on the board first with a 26-yard touchdown pass from Warrior quarterback Lamont Byrd to Kendrick Coleman. Pete Porter's extra point attempt failed, though, giving East Central a 6-0 lead with 7:49 to go in the first. Hinds attempted to mount a couple of successful drives, but nothing happened.

Finally, in the second quarter, the Eagles came roaring back. After a beautiful 39-yard reception by Albert Sweet that put Hinds at East Central's 20, quarterback Troy Nelson punched it in from the three. Charley McGinn's PAT gave the Eagles a 7-6 lead going into the halftime festivities.

After all the fanfare of halftime was over, the Eagles came pouncing back again in the second half. On East Central's second offensive play of the half, James Gayden intercepted a Warrior pass, setting up the Hinds scoring machine at about midfield.

This is where Hinds got heated up. On the first play, Efferin Macon scampered for a 55-yard touchdown run, and after McGinn's point-after, The Eagles ran away with the game. Time and time again, the tough Eagle defense spoiled any East Central attempt at moving the ball.

The next Hinds score was set up by a fumble recovery by Steve Clarke at the Warrior three-yard line. A couple of plays later, returned quarterback Vincent Lee kept for a touchdown. McGinn again added the PAT, making the score 21-6 in Hinds' favor.

Several drives were stopped in the fourth quarter, both by penalties and good defense by both teams. A 35-yard touchdown run by Jody Powell was negated due to a clipping call; a drive for both teams was halted by loss of the ball on downs. But East Central made one more threat: Byrd again went to Coleman, this time for an 8-yard scoring pass. The 2-point conversion by the Warriors failed, making it 21-12.

The Eagle offense showed its power one more time in the last period, with fullback Shun White pounding out a 46-yard run for another score, and with Charley McGinn's fourth successful extra point, ended the scoring at 28-12.

Hinds Beats Jones Bobcats

A slow start for both the Hinds Community College Eagles and the Jones Junior College Bobcats ended with Hinds taking a 34-14 win over the Bobcats at Ellisville Saturday night.

The first period ended with both teams scoreless even though the Bobcats came close twice during the period, once on the 4 yard line and the other when the ball was caught out of bounds outside the end zone.

The second period proved to be better for both teams as Hinds' Zachary Crockett led off the scoring with a 2-yard run and Charley McGinn making the point after. A few minutes later Crockett repeated his 2-yard run for the Eagles second TD and McGinn added the extra point. With 1:41 to play in the first half Charley McGinn added 3 more points to the board for the Eagles with a 26 yard field goal. With 9 seconds to go in the first half, the Bobcats big play of the game came when Billy Caston passed to Jerrell Rankins for a 74-yard pass play and Jones first score. Kevin Pruett added the extra point and Hinds led the Bobcats 17-7 at the half.

Hinds came back in the third period and scored with 10 minutes remaining when Charley McGinn made a 37-yard field goal.

Jones scored again after Billy Caston moved the ball down field to the 1-yard line and with Kenny Jordan carrying the ball over for the touchdown. Pruett again added the point after and it's 20-14 with the Eagles leading.

With 21 seconds remaining in the third quarter Hinds' Jody Powell completed a 27-yard pass to Efferin Macon for another touchdown for the Eagles and McGinn added the point after.

Hinds kept the Bobcats from scoring during the fourth quarter, but added another touchdown of their own to the board when Powell completed a 15-yard pass to Dwayne Mangum and McGinn added the extra point.

Eagles smash MGC Bulldogs

In their last South Division game of the season the Hinds Community College Eagles charged past the Bulldogs of Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College to win their seventh game of the year with a 40-17 finish. This now makes the Eagles 7-2 overall and 5-1 in division play.

The Eagles had a super first period collecting 21 points and by the half Hinds led the Bulldogs 31-3.

In the first period the Eagles' Zachery Crockett ran in from the 8 yard line for the first TD. A 2 point conversion attempt failed. With 2:02 in the first, Jody Powell carried the ball over from the 7-yard line and a Powell pass to Dwayne Mangum made the 2 point conversion work this time.

The big play of the game came with only 45 seconds to go in the first period when Hinds' Vincent Lee returned a punt return 75 yards for the touchdown. Charley McGinn added the point after and it was 21-0 for the Eagles.

During the second period Crockett again scored on a 3-yard run with McGinn adding the point after. As the clock neared the half and with 1:22 to play, Charley McGinn kicked a 41 yard field goal for the Eagles giving them a 31-0 lead. With only a second remaining in the period, Gulf Coast kicker David Beaugez kicked a 39 yard field goal to finish the first half with Hinds leading 31-3.

During the third quarter the Eagles were only able to score once when Charley McGinn kicked a 22-yard field goal. Gulf Coast made their first touchdown of the game with 1:04 to play in the period on a 56-yard pass play from Bennie Parker to Jesse Moore. They attempted a 2 point conversion but failed.

Only 3 seconds into the fourth period Bennie Parker connected on a 21-yard pass to Anthony Clark for Gulf Coasts second TD of the game. They made the 2 point conversion on a pass from Parker to Moore.

The last touchdown of the game came with 10:29 to play when Hinds' Shun White made a 10-yard run for the TD. McGinn added the PAT and the Eagles went on to take their seventh season win.

The Eagles will play their last regular season game on Thursday, November 1, when they host Coahoma Community College at 7:00 pm in Raymond.

MACON CARRIES — Carrying a little more than he bargained for, Hinds running back Efferin Macon carries for the Eagles during the Mississippi Gulf Coast game at Perkinston. Hinds won 40-17 and moved to a 7-2 overall record and 5-1 in the South Division.

Hinds basketball season opens Nov. 5

Basketball season is just around the corner and the Bulldogs and Lady Bulldogs of Hinds Community College's Utica Campus are getting ready for their November 5 opener at Goodman with yet another set of Bulldogs from Holmes Community College.

Looking ahead to the season, Hinds men's coach Joe Nelson said, "Our team is not going to be the biggest team in the league this year but they have a good attitude. We also will be depending on our new players to fill the gap of the graduating sophomores from the 1990 State Championship team that finished with a 22-7 record."

Players coming back this season that the Bulldogs will be depending on heavily, include Michael Thompson of Violet, Louisiana and James Charles of Alexandria, Louisiana. The Bulldogs are also hoping to have James Robinson back this season but Robinson has been suffering from a knee injury while playing football with the Hinds Eagles on the Raymond Campus. Other players returning to the team this season include Joe Milano, Nickoe Whitley, Robert Davis, Terrance Williams and Irving Williams.

New players that Nelson will be depending on are Randy Carter, a 6'0 guard from Jackson and Cortez Dunn, a 6'5 forward from Norwood, Louisiana.

Lady Bulldogs coach Lester Owens is looking for a more promising season after finishing the 1990 season 11-11. Owens will have five returning players on his squad this season, including Zelda Bowman, Yolanda Ellis, Tonya Graham, Tonya McJimson and Donna Washington.

Looking at his returnees, Owens commented, "Donna Washington will probably be one of our best players this season and I expect great things from her. Also with Zelda Bowman at point guard she should add a lot of strength to the team and so should Tonya McJimson if she doesn't have problems with her knee."

With the remainder of this team being new, Owens said, "Shanett McInnis is coming to us from Belhaven and she should be strong on the board. Other new players that we will be depending

Hinds rolls into playoffs

By Lee Baker

Clarion-Ledger Staff Writer

RAYMOND — Hinds Community College wrapped up its spot in next week's state junior college playoffs Thursday night with a 56-16 breeze by winless Coahoma.

The Eagles closed out regular-season campaigning with an 8-2 record, while the Tigers finished 0-10, still without a win since early in the 1985 season.

The Eagles now move into the first round of the playoffs against Northwest at Senatobia next Saturday, a rematch of a game their Sept. 13 won by Hinds 16-7.

A year ago, playing twice at Senatobia, the Rangers won both the regular-season and playoff games.

Hinds broke in front of Coahoma on Efferin Macon's

26-yard sprint around right end after James Gayden covered a punt that glanced off a Coahoma player.

Zachary Crockett scored twice on runs of 9 and 33 yards, while Marshall Pack ran for 18, James Morris for 20 and Ryan Harper for 10 on the rushing scores.

Albert Sweet took a 24-yard pass from Jody Powell for the only Hinds score by air, although James Dobson hauled back an interception 37 yards for a touchdown.

Coahoma picked up a 42-yard David Henslee field goal in the first quarter before a late flurry produced two scores. Lateef Tellis passed 12 yards to Jeff Tellis, and Casey Gregory rushed in from 2 yards.

Storyteller shares Beowulf

Recently, Dr. Annette Shivers, instructor of psychology and professional storyteller, shared her techniques of the art of storytelling with Rosia Crisler's English Literature class. Dr. Shivers spun her version of the English Epic BEOWULF.

The students were spellbound as Dr. Shivers took them back to Anglo-Saxon times, to the kingdoms of the Danes and the Geats, to the Great Mead Hall, to the underwater abode of the monster Grendel's mother. They cringed as Dr. Shivers described the gory details of Beowulf's fight with Grendel and Grendel's mother.

Regina Lewis and Lynn Walker said they could really see the blood and hear the screams. Neldra Clark responded that Dr. Shivers made the action seem so real; she made the story come alive. Not only did Dr. Shivers inspire the students to read the epic but she also helped the students to develop an understanding of and appreciation for the art of storytelling.

According to Crisler, her "words had forked no lighting; she had to send for the psychologist-storyteller". She added, "many of the instructors here at Hinds are so very talented that we need not look elsewhere, Staff members are also talented."

INQUIRING MINDS — Hinds student Chris Shannon designed a dress made of National Enquirer newspapers and won $750 from the publication. His was the winner out of 398 entries.

National Enquirer features student

by Sonia Burlison

What happens when you mix six bottles of glue, 10 National Enquirer papers and a little creativity? If you're Hinds freshman Chris Shannon you get $750 and a color photo of your creation printed in the National Enquirer.

Shannon, a commercial design and advertising student on the Raymond Campus, was the first place winner in a contest that the National Enquirer recently sponsored. The contestants were to design and create an article of clothing made completely out of the tabloid using thread, glue, paste or all three. It took Shannon three weeks and a lot of patience to complete his masterpiece but it was well worth the effort.

"It took a long time to make and I'm glad I won," commented Shannon who was one of 398 people to enter the contest. He plans to apply the money towards purchasing the Miss Copiah County Pageant franchise from which the winner goes on to the Miss Mississippi Pageant and possibly on to the Miss America Pageant.

Shannon's creation is now on display in the display case in Gibbs Hall.

British studies

It's always exciting to think about travelling. You get to meet new people, see new things, and experience new places; nowhere else can this be done with greater fulfillment than in Great Britain. Now there is a program available for students to do this with relatively low cost — and you can even get a great education.

Britt Brown, coordinator of the British Studies program here at Hinds, says that no one should miss this opportunity. Now for a little more information on this unique program: The British Studies trip is one that includes a lot of interesting things.

First of all, the participants travel to England for five weeks. During this five weeks, students attend classes in subjects ranging from Philosophy to Nursing to Business to Performing Arts to ... the list could go on forever. But this is not the regular classroom experience that we are used to. Ms. Brown says that the study format includes many different "hands-on" types of training, such as field trips, visits to historical places, and so on. In London, the learning information is given to you — in a first-hand manner — instead of simply lecturing to make students imagine what these places are like.

Participants in this program usually reside in dormitories, just like here in the U.S. These dorms are co-ed, and students must be responsible for their own meals. The classes themselves range in size anywhere from eight to twenty people, and meet three to four times per week, although Brown says that the class meetings are very flexible.

But why do all this? How can someone benefit from it? They can benefit greatly in every way, says Ms. Brown. One way is in the job market. "People don't realize that there is a big shift towards international education emphasis in job markets recently," she said. Studying in a totally different culture allows people to become more aware not only of different ways of living, but makes us more aware of our own attitudes about how we live; it helps us to become more rounded as Americans.

Hinds is the only community college in the nation that participates in the British Studies program. The trip is open to any community college or university; last year about 280 students from across the country made the trip. These classes will transfer to any school in the nation, and there is lots of time to travel in a student's spare time. If you're interested, please contact Ms. Brown in her office on the ground floor of Reeves Hall.

Music Dept. holds tryouts Nov. 12 - 13

by John Turner

The HCC Music Department is announcing auditions for The Pirates of Penzance, a musical about—guess what? pirates, which will run from January 31-February 2.

The musical, written by William Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan, is about a band of pirates who act in the tradition of the Keystone Kops. The whole show is a funny portrayal of the old-timey "good-guys, bad-guys" theme. This production, however, will incorporate modern-day ideas into this traditional play. Dr. Rolland Shaw, head of the Music Department, says that this version, directed by Margie Weidner and Terry Fletcher, will be "modernized".

Weidner, in charge of stage direction, is very familiar with the works of Gilbert & Sullivan. She gained this experience through work in Michigan and Oklahoma. Mr. Fletcher will be the musical coordinator; he is a voice instructor and director of the choir here. Technical direction will be by David Hawkins; Dr. Shaw says that his role will be that of production assistant.

Auditions will be held November 12 and 13 at 7 PM in Cain Hall. Anyone interested should contact Dr. Shaw in the Music Department or call 857-3271 for more information.

Art teachers win

Four Hinds art instructors and several former Hinds Art Students won awards at the Tenth Annual Vicksburg Art Association's Mississippi Artist Exhibition.

Dave Burkett, adjunct art instructor at the Jackson Campus Universities Center and Sunset Drive Center, won Best In Show at the 10th annual Vicksburg Art Association Mississippi Artist Exhibition. He won a cash prize for his oil, "Bailando." In the same show, his acrylic painting, "The Birds" took a blue ribbon in the Acrylic Division. Burkett, has a current one-man show at New Stage Theater, with 21 paintings on display.

Bob Dunaway and Gayle McCarty, Raymond Campus art instructors, and Shu Chang, Raymond Campus chemistry instructor, also had winning entries in the Vicksburg Art Association Mississippi Artists Exhibition. Dunaway received a Special

Award for his small bronze calf with butterfly, "Confrontation;" McCarty took an Honorable Mention for a ceramic and bone combination sculpture, "The Altar;" and Shu won first place in Black and White Photography, with her entry, "Skunk Cabbage."

Former Hinds Art student Janet Fritschen took second place in prints with a serigraph, "At Rivers Edge." Former Hinds art students who entered the exhibit and won recognition for their work were Randy Jolly for a fiber design called, "Folded Antiques." Amy Newman won a special award for her oil painting, "Popsicle Girl" and also first place in oils for a study of watermelons. In addition to these awards she also received an honorable mention for another oil painting called, "Coat Rack." B.J. Crawford of Utica received a second place award for her acrylic painting entitled "Rain-bow Falls."

Final fall exhibit scheduled in gallery

THE THIRD and final fall exhibit will be a one-woman presentation of mixed media photo collages, straight photography, color pencil drawings and watercolors by Elizabeth Barber, of Hattiesburg.

Her photo collages, she says, can best be described as "extrapolations" because they "go beyond" or are a continuation of a design not contained in the photo themselves. Much of her work is inspired by her fascination with the random patterns to be found in the natural scenery of South Mississippi. The patterns and textures and forms of rocks, wildflowers and "even pine bark" wend their way into her work in some form or another, she says. This exhibit will run from November 5 through December 14 in the Gallery.

Choir Sets Winter Concert

by John Turner

The Department of Music, here on the Raymond Campus, will present the Choir, Clefs, and Madrigal Singers in their annual Winter Concert on December 9 at 3 PM. The performance will be held in Cain Hall.

Some highlights for this year's concert will be "O Aula Nobilis", featuring the women's choir and accompanied by brass and percussion. The men will perform "Ave Maria" in a "double-choir" fashion. In addition to the featured compositions, the choir will sing traditional Christmas arrangements.

Two ensemble groups will also be featured. The Clefs, a pop style vocal group, will sing various popular arrangements.

Then, in Renaissance period costume, the Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Dr. Rolland Shaw, will perform two Renaissance Christmas Carols.

The concert, which is free and open to the public, will be under the direction of Mr. Terry W. Fletcher and accompanied by Mrs. Beverly Shaw.

"Jingle Bell Pops" Dec. 7

You better watch out: The Mississippi Symphony Orchestra is bringing Santa Claus to town with "Jingle Bell Pops!"

At 7:30 on the evening of December 7, the Municipal Auditorium will come alive with the sounds of sleigh bells and carols as the symphony combines its talents with the voices of three Jackson schools. Choruses from Blackburn, Chastain and Siwell junior highs will offer songs of the season, ranging from "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" to "Carol of the Bells". The orchestra will follow suit with traditional Christmas carols and holiday favorites, like "March of the Toys" and "Sleigh Ride".

The concert, which is sponsored by UAD laboratories, 7-Up and Deposit Guaranty National Bank, promises to be a festive occasion for kids "from one to ninety-two", where music fills the air and Santa makes a special appearance from the North Pole to conduct the symphony in a melody or two.

Christmas would not be complete without the sounds of music.

Quake and Shake Forecast Monday

by John Turner

EARTHQUAKE (urth' kwak) — A shaking or trembling of the earth, volcanic or tectonic in origin, caused by faulting of the deposition of heavy loads of sediment and mountain-building.

It's scary to think about, isn't it? Scary in the idea that we could, conceivably, all be crushed by a falling building or simply be swallowed up by the ground itself. People in our region of the country have never had to think about this type of danger situation before. So the question arises, should we prepare for a major earthquake, and with it major damage, or should we just not worry about it? Perhaps we should all go for the happy medium. We should all be aware of what could conceivably happen, and what we should do if it does happen, but we shouldn't go to an extreme.

Many people are already aware of the effects the proposed quake might cause. Based on the Mercalli scale, which is an estimation of damage that could be done if the earthquake hits, damage to buildings in our area would be minimal, for the most part. The Mercalli is not the same as the Richter scale, which measures the energy released at the precise point of the quake itself at the precise moment it hits. If the quake is as powerful as estimated, there will be a "shake" felt by people in our area. Hanging objects will quiver, waves will form on water surfaces, and so on. But this is not to say more damage will not occur.

So what do we do? Just hope nothing happens? Or prepare in every way possible? Perhaps we should be aware of just what to do. According to information given by the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, we should remember the "Duck, Cover, and Hold" method. If indoors, you should 1) Duck or drop to the floor; 2) take Cover under steady furniture or against an interior wall that is away from windows or other glass; and 3) take Hold of that furniture and be prepared to move with it if the quake is strong enough. If outdoors, stay out in the open — away from anything that could potentially crumble or fall.

But again: what do we do if we're sitting in classrooms or in dormitories? For this we went to Larry Coleman, Chief of Campus Police. "The first thing students should remember is to STAY PUT," Coleman said. He added several things for students to keep in mind:

1. If in classrooms, move quickly but carefully away from windows. If the tremors feel strong enough, get under a chair or in some other safe place to protect yourself; ceilings could conceivably collapse.
2. After the quake is over move carefully outside. Don't panic! If someone is trapped and you are aware of it, notify emergency personnel; also assist them in locating people if they need it.
3. STAY OFF THE PHONE. Emergency calls might be trying to reach someone, and it doesn't help to have phone lines tied up.
4. Most of all, use your head. Be cautious about what could happen after a quake, and remain calm at all times.

We must all be aware of the possibilities a major earthquake holds. Just remember to be smart about it. For example: in dormitories, don't stack heavy things together. Make sure you won't be damaged by flying debris in the event the quake hits. Most of all, be smart. We can all hope that that fabled December 3 will remain still — but we all need to be prepared if it isn't.

Editorial

Earthquake Philosophy

So, which are you gonna bet on? Total devastation or just a few tremors here and there? I'm going to bet on both. The question has undoubtedly arisen in everyone's mind: What should we expect; and how should we prepare for an earthquake if one does hit? Should we believe this guy Browning, who has been called by some "a fraud"? Should we earthquake-proof every nook and cranny of our homes, or just hope it doesn't happen? Well, I'll tell you; it's like the old story of the guy that has the expensive mansion on a coast, filled with priceless art and furniture. A tremendous hurricane is forecast for the area. Should he expect the worst and move everything, possibly damaging some things, and take the chance of the hurricane passing him by, thereby wasting time, money, and effort? Or should he just ignore the weather forecasts and leave his priceless treasures there, hence risking total loss? What would you do? It all depends on your own point of view.

If you're the "half empty glass" type of person, go ahead and prepare all you can. Bolt that furniture down, collect those emergency supplies and food, etcetera. If you're the "half-full" person, don't worry! However, we should all be prepared on what to do the moment an earthquake does hit — if one does, of course. Read those hand-outs; learn to protect yourself.

But there's still another problem. What if a quake doesn't hit on the predicted day? Do we forget about it? Of course not. Many scientists agree that a quake will hit the New Madrid Fault in the next 15 years or so. Thankfully, we will be prepared for one no matter when it comes — if we just use our heads.

That is, if one hits at all.

Vicksburg Adds Building

At the Vicksburg-Warren County Branch, the new 30,000 square foot Multi-purpose building has made way for three college level technical programs and six high school technical programs.

In addition to academic transfer classes, the Vicksburg-Warren County Branch now also offers a two-year Associate of Applied Science degree in business technology, electronics technology and civil engineering technology.

High school programs housed in the Multi-Purpose Building include allied health, child care and teacher aide, computer applications, diversified technology, food service, and the first high school tourism and hospitality cooperative program in the state, according to Joseph Loviza, Vicksburg-Warren County Branch dean.

The Branch has a high school enrollment of nearly 900 students and is the largest high school vocational-technical center in the state. An additional 600 college-level students attended there Fall of 1990.

Funding for Phase III, the Multi-Purpose Building, is provided by the Warren County Board of Supervisors and the State Board of Education, Vocational-Technical and Adult Education Bureau.

STATE RUNNER UP—The Hinds Community College Eagles lost their bid for the 1990 State Community/Junior College Football Championship title to the Indians of Itawamba Community College by a score of 23-7. The Hinds Eagles finished with a 9-3 record.

HCC Eagles Place Second in State Championship

Looking for a State Championship title the Hinds Community College Eagles had to give up their dream when the Indians of Itawamba Community College claimed the state title with a 23-7 win over Hinds.

Both Hinds and Itawamba were number two teams in their divisions and advanced to the state finals after Hinds defeated North winner Northwest 16-11 and Itawamba defeated South winner Copiah-Lincoln 54-46 in five overtimes. Hinds finishes the season 9-3 and Itawamba finishes 8-3-1 and advances to the Texas Shrine Bowl in Tyler, Texas.

The Indians took charge of the game early first scoring on a 33-yard field goal by Henry Daniels and keeping the Eagles from scoring during the first period.

The Indians moved to a 10-0 lead with 14:49 on the clock in the second period when Volta Mitchell threw a 6-yard touchdown pass to Reggie Dwight ending a 98-yard march. Henry Daniels made the point after.

The Eagles only score of the game came with 3:49 left in the first half when quarterback Troy Nelson carried from the 1. Charley McGinn added the point after.

With only seconds left in the first half Itawamba's Henry Daniels attempted a 44-yard field goal but the kick was wide left.

During the third period the Indians were able to put more points on the board with two Henry Daniels field goals, a 29 and a 19-yarder moved the score to 16-7 for the Indians.

Itawamba held the Eagles to 107 yards rushing on 38 carries and one completion for 4-yards in 15 passes. Itawamba had 175 yards rushing with Philpot receiving credit for 149 yards on 33 carries. Mitchell added 146 yards passing with 9 of 16 being complete.

Eagles Win Playoff

by John Turner

In the first round of the state playoffs the Hinds Eagles advanced to the championship game by defeating Northwest— for the second time—16-11.

What a game! The Eagles came out looking prepared to play the New York Giants; as the kickoff team took the field, the sideline sounded like a giant pep rally.

The Northwest offense took the ball first. On their second play of the game at their own 22, the Hinds defense caused a fumble back to the Ranger five. Northwest had to punt the ball away, and the Eagle offense promptly drove down and kicked a 43-yard field goal, with Charley McGinn getting the credit for the opening score.

The Northwest offense was not there just for kicks either, as it seemed. They came roaring back and, under the leadership of quarterback Kelvin Simmons, booted a three-pointer of their own. Ranger kicker Stephen Coker's 39-yard kick tied the score a 3-3.

The opening of the second quarter looked just as promising as the first. After recovering a Northwest fumble at about mid-field, the Hinds offense drove it down again. After a 23-yard run by Zachary Crockett put the ball on the Ranger line, McGinn again connected, this time from 22 yards. But then, the Northwest defense reared its head. After a punt on their next drive, Ranger linebacker Ed Taamilo intercepted a Troy Nelson pass and returned it 75 yards for a score. The Northwest two-point conversion failed, making the score 9-6, Northwest.

Then, it was Hinds' turn again. Nelson passed 59 yards to Albert Sweet; a few plays later, Zachary Crockett slammed it in from the one. McGinn's point-after put it at 13-9 in favor of the Eagles going into the halftime period.

The second half was a total opposite of the first—defensively dominated. The third quarter was totally free of scoring, with five punts and one drive stopped on downs in the third period alone. Then, in the fourth quarter, as they always promise they will, the Eagles began rolling. On Northwest's first drive, linebacker Dante Myers recovered a fumble, giving the Eagle offense possession on the Ranger 44. Hinds then mounted a good drive behind the rushing strength of Nelson, Crockett, and Marshall Pack. McGinn nailed another field goal from 2 yard, putting Hinds up 16-9.

Time after time, the Eagle defense, who we will hereafter call "The Fourth Quarter Boys", foiled any Northwest scoring attempt. Whether a recovered fumble or an interception, the big Hinds "D" was again tough. The game ended when punter Scottie Frazier ran out of the back of the end zone for a safety, ending it at 16-11.

Basketball Season Underway at Utica

Basketball at Hinds Community College is well underway this season with the women's team boasting a 6-1 record while the men's team is holding a 3-4 record.

Coach Lester Owens credits his women's team success to speed and a little more experience. Thus far the Lady Eagles have wins over Holmes 78-77, Shelby State 105-82, Mary Holmes 81-47, Mississippi Delta 105-85, Coahoma 83-80, and Mississippi Delta 73-66. Their one loss was in tournament play to Holmes 81-76.

In recent Region 23 reports Hinds women were leading in total points with Donna Washington having 148, rebounds with Washington leading again with 50, and in assists with Zelda Bowman leading with 24.

Coach Joe Nelson's men's team is 3-4 for the season and have wins over Mary Holmes 97-82, Mississippi Delta 118-100 and 72-71. Their losses have been to: Shelby State 128-111, Holmes 96-86, Coahoma 78-73, and Holmes 74-72.

Nelson said, "We are right about where I expected us to be in the season. Now that James Robinson is joining us since football has finished and along with James Charles, Michael Thompson, Irving Williams, and Nickoe Whitley, we should be doing fine."

In recent reports sent to Region 23, Michael Thompson was leading the team with 142 total points and 43 rebounds. James Charles was leading with 67 assists.

Hinds will be playing two games in Raymond at the Mayo Fieldhouse. On Thursday, November 29, Hinds will host Mississippi Delta and on Friday, December 7, Hinds will host Holmes.

The women's games start at 6:00 PM and the men's games follow at 7:00 PM.

Entertainment Review

The Quiet Singers

by John Turner

Remember this hit?

Well, how about this one?

Hearing that makes me think of the crooning voices of Rob Pilatus and Fabrice Morvan, better known as Milli Vanilli. They have recently enjoyed—well endured—instant infamy as their true vocal talent was unleashed in the past few weeks. A scandal rocked the pop world when the discovery was made that the two German singers did not actually sing on their debut album, Girl You Know It's True, which sold over 7 million copies.

And now, to add insult to musical injury, the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences has announced that they must give up their Grammy, which they won in 1989 in the Best New Artist category. According to NARAS president Michael Greene, Milli Vanilli's record was "rendered ineligible" after the producer and the record label, Arista, agreed about the news.

The poor singers were quoted as saying that they wanted to sing, but producer Frank Farian wouldn't let them. It's possible that many people suspected this already; anyone who watched the Grammy Awards ceremony last year probably noticed that the duo could barely speak English. The "Quiet Singers" have responded by saying they were victims of a setup, with the accusation that Farian broke his promise to let them sing on the album. To further quench any doubts about their musical ability, the two did a spontaneous performance at their last press conference.

But it still makes one wonder. If they have any chance at returning to stardom they might as well keep quiet about it. We all know they are experts at that! Oh, and don't miss their upcoming collaboration with Roy Orbison and Buddy Holly. It's sure to be a sleeper hit!

Lendon Players hold Elephant Man tryouts

The Lendon Players, sponsored by Miss Denise Halbach, have announced auditions for The Elephant Man, their upcoming production. Tryouts will be held during the first week of classes of the Spring semester.

The play, written by Bernard Pomerance and based on the book of the same name, is about a horribly deformed man (hence, Elephant Man) who learns to deal with society, and the doctor who guides him from a life of despair and terror to that of a normal human being. In the stage production, makeup will not be used for the character of John Merrick; Halbach says it is too difficult and hindrous to the actor playing the role. Halbach will be directing the show; she says the size of the cast will be anywhere from eight to twelve people, depending on the amount of doubling by the actors done.

Anyone interested in auditioning for the play or joining the Lendon Players should contact Halbach at 857-3267 or in her office in the Speech & Theatre Department.

Eight week classes offered at Hinds Universities Center

Eight-week classes are now being offered at the Hinds Community College Jackson Campus-Universities Center location. The pilot eight week course schedule, with classes meeting one hour and 15 minutes, Monday - Thursday, will be offered along with traditional semester length classes.

The decision to condense regular semester classes to eight weeks follows a survey of adult students who said it is difficult to make a 16 week commitment when juggling family and work responsibilities, according to Dr. Terry Puckett, vice president for the Jackson Campus.

During the first eight-week term, January 14 - March 8, courses in Principles of Accounting and Business Law I; Basic Studies in English, English Composition I and English Literature; American National Government, American History I and Western Civilization I; Basic Math, Intermediate Algebra and Calculus I; Developmental Reading I & II; and General Psychology will be offered.

The second eight-week term, March 18 - May 17, will include the following classes: Fundamentals of Composition, English Composition II and English Literature II; Principles of Accounting II and Business Law II; Elementary Algebra, College Algebra, and Calculus II; Oral Communication, General

Psychology II and Reading Improvement; and American History II, Western Civilization II and American State and Local Government.

To further accommodate working students, the Jackson Campus-Universities Center also offers 7AM classes, evening classes and Saturday morning classes.

Advance registration for all Hinds locations continues through December 18. Open registration is January 10. For a complete class schedule, contact the Jackson Campus-Universities Center, 982-6321.

PTK leadership program

Three locations of Hinds Community College have been selected to participate in the first National Leadership Development Program for America's community, technical and junior colleges, according to Ron Risley, Executive Director of Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society, the national sponsor of the leadership program.

The Raymond Campus, the Jackson Campus Nursing/Allied Health Center, and the Rankin Campus, are three of only 45 institutional sites in the U. S. to participate in the program.

Faculty members, Susan Kendrick and Rosia Crisler, from the Raymond Campus; Cathy Walker, from the Nursing/Allied Health Center; and Elaine Barr, from the Rankin Campus, represented their locations at the first faculty instructor training session, held in Jackson, in December. They are among the first in the nation to participate in this unique leadership training program which will certify them to teach the leadership development course at their Hinds Community College location.

The Leadership Development Program will be provided as a three hour course or as a non-credit enrichment seminar and can be adapted to student or community outreach formats. Training will include such areas of leadership as goal setting, ethical dilemmas, conflict resolution, team building, change making, delegating, time management, interpersonal skills, decision-making, community service, and oral and written communication.

These Hinds Community College locations were selected to participate in the program because of exemplary faculty and administration involvement in community education and honors programs, and the College's continuous commitment to the development of its students unique leadership potential, according to Risley.

Trash can fire causes damage

by John Turner

A fire started in a trash can gutted one room and caused smoke and water damage to one suite in Main Hall on Friday, November 30.

According to Hinds County Sheriff's Department investigator Mike Acy, the leading origin of the blaze stemmed from a cigarette placed in the trash can, which was under a desk in the room.

A staff member noticed smoke pouring through the window of the room and immediately ran into the building to activate the building's fire alarm system. Apparently a student also noticed the fire at about the same time and did likewise. Units from both Raymond and Byram Volunteer Fire Departments were paged at approximately 12:50 PM. Raymond's unit was the first to arrive about five minutes later.

As crowds gathered to watch, several of the firefighters went into the building to battle the blaze from the inside. After the initial blaze itself was extinguished, fans were set up in the window of the burning room and the one adjacent to it, ventilating the suite. The fire was brought under good control in about 20 minutes — quick work for volunteer firemen.

The room was a total loss; a damage estimate has not yet been determined. Rick Hartfield, director of Resident Life, said, "The design of the building — with fire walls in between suites — and a quick response by the Raymond Fire Department prevented the fire from spreading."

Preliminary cleanup began Friday afternoon and an outside contractor who specializes in fire damage began cleaning operations on Sunday morning. The building's reconstruction is now underway.

Publications seek new members

by John Turner

The Hindsonian and Eagle staffs — which consist of just an editor and photographers for each — are in great need of staff members for the Spring semester.

The Hindsonian has positions open for all types of members — sports, features, and editing, just to name a few. Many opportunities are available for getting good writing and reading experience. The Hindsonian usually tries to put out an issue once every month, but has been slowed due to lack of staff members. If you have any interest in writing — or just plain journalism, for that matter — come to the Public Relations Department to apply.

If it's yearbooks you're interested in, contact Marty Boyd, this year's Eagle editor. Marty says that, like The Hindsonian, all positions are open. That includes layout, copy, and other assorted jobs. And, contrary to popular belief, no previous yearbook experience is needed — but if you do have some, that's all the more reason to join. Boyd can also be reached in the Public Relations Department.

Both of these organizations can be very valuable. They look especially good on a resume, and you can gain a lot of responsibility and work skills. And hey, they can also be fun.

Ho! Ho! Ho!

"Dashing through the snow, in a one-horse open sleigh . . ." Come on, everybody join in! It's Christmas!!

Oh, no, not again . . . .

No, I'm not a grinch. I really enjoy giving socks to my third cousin and getting a "muscadine jelly ensemble" from my great aunt in Roanoke, Virginia. Seriously, though, folks, it's that time of the year. Time for decorating the Christmas tree (and arguing with your siblings about how much tinsel to put on . . . don't wanna make it too shiny!); time for shopping for loved ones' Christmas gifts (insert your own complaint here . . . I know you've all got them); time for stuffing yourself at Christmas dinner (Did you know that membership in Weight Watchers triples in about mid-January?) It's time for Christmas.

Every one of us has a complaint on three about Christmas. Whether it's weight gain, spent money, wasted time at malls, dumb gifts, or whatever, the fuss is there. Have we really examined the idea behind Christmas? Of course we have. Some editor writes a column about that every year . . . and it always must be entitled "The Spirit of Christmas." Well, not this editor. I've decided to go against the journalistic grain and write about the fun of the season. I've compiled a list, inspired by my man David Letterman, of the Top Ten Reasons We All Love Christmas:

10. It's fun to watch over poor Uncle Jimmy be Santa Claus at the Christmas party just because he's the fattest person in the family.

9. Because red and green go so well together, don't you think?

8. You're rid of the Alarm Clock monster for a month or so.

7. The people down the street make the best eggnog you've ever tasted.

6. Because we can finally buy the new Milli Vanilli Christmas album . . . complete with lyrics written in German-accented English.

5. Because Dan Quayle would make an excellent St. Nick . . . he's so darn jolly!

4. We all really need that six-pack of Hanes we get in our stocking.

3. Because we thrive on juicy kisses from out-of-state relatives.

2. "Dashing through the rain, in a one-horsepower truck . . ."

1. All that darn loot! (What else?)

season and she will help with her height."

The President's Message

by

Dr. Clyde Muse

November 17, 1990, brought the end to another highly successful football season for the Hinds Eagles with a 9-3 record. At the state and national level, the Eagles ranked second and eighth respectively. This represents the fourth year in a row that the football team has made the state playoffs. It also ended an outstanding season performance for the Eagle Band, Hinds Hi-Steppers, Football Cheerleaders, and Ernie the Eagle.

This Christmas brings an end to this season's performance of these groups as well as your performance for the first semester of 1990-91. The semester is memory now . . . happy for some, frustrating for others. It would be wonderful if we could maintain, throughout the semester, the enthusiasm with which we began.

Semester exams are a measure of how well you have learned the materials covered in the semester. The time of reckoning is now, but with daily preparation you have provided yourself the skills and information needed. If you have not arranged and paced your schedule for daily preparation and study this semester, try to improve during the spring.

Now most of you are preparing to return to your homes for the brief vacation between semesters. Work will occupy some, travel may be in your plans, and time with family and friends will help to make future memories. Christmas has a special and different meaning to each of us. Whatever your plans, have a safe and happy holiday. Bring a renewed excitement to begin the second semester. If your plans do not include returning to Hinds, we wish for you great success in your chosen endeavors.

Whether your plans include continuing your education or entering the work force after leaving Hinds, I would encourage you to complete the requirements for an associate degree. Studies indicate that individuals with an associate degree have a distinct advantage over their most frequent competition, high school graduates, for most entry level positions. Income, opportunities to obtain further education, increased employment opportunities, and job security are a few of the benefits to the associate degree graduate.

Rankin Alums offer scholarship

The Rankin County Alumni Chapter has recently established the Rankin County Alumni Scholarship through the Development Foundation. It will be awarded to a qualifying Rankin County student attending any location of Hinds Community College on a full-time basis.

To qualify for the scholarship, a student's parents must be legal residents of Rankin County and the student must have attended and graduated from a public or private high school located in Rankin County. The student must have 2.0 or better high school grade point average, a composite ACT of 12 or better, and demonstrate financial need. The scholarship may be awarded to a first-time entering freshman or to a returning sophomore who has maintained full-time status and a 2.5 or better Hinds grade point average. The scholarship will be for full tuition each semester.

The scholarship has been made available by the Chapter through its various fund raising activities. The endowment was reached this summer with funds raised during the Chapter's Eagle Golf Classic.

A student applying for this scholarship must submit an application to the Office of Development before March 1. For more information about the scholarship, contact Jackie Granberry.

Hinds Supports Troops

Students and faculty at Hinds gave their support to the United States forces who are on active duty due to the war in the Persian Gulf with "Operation Eagle Pride".

On Monday, January 28, about 150 faculty, students and Raymond area residents marched during the afternoon to show their support of U. S. troops and paraded through Raymond and out to the College where a nighttime candle-light ceremony took place in the Mayo Gym.

As the group paraded from the town square to the campus, students and local residents carried signs reading, "Desert Storm rains on Saddam Parade," and "Freedom Isn't Free. Thanks for Paying the Price."

When the night time activities began in the Mayo Gym the size had grown with many more faculty and students attending to hear a host of speakers. Raymond Campus vice-president Dr. Michael Rabalais presided over the event and led the pledge of allegiance and the Mississippi

National Guard presented Flags Over Mississippi. It was noted during the ceremony that Hinds has 52 students and four faculty members now on active duty.

Speakers included Chief Master SGT. James Milner of the Mississippi National Guard, Navy Lt. Cmdr. John Parker of the Naval Air Station in Meridian who told the group to not be upset with anti-war protesters. He said, "Maybe it's their way to get the troops back home," and Parker also remarked that he has never been more proud to be an American and a Mississippian.

Other speakers included students Jenny Fox, Shelley Wheatley, Kelly Hatcher and Percy Brooks. Songs were sung by Dana Crotwell, Melissa Sandiford, Bridgette Bell, Jeanna Jinks, Ann Hogue, and Andy Woggamon. Lori Valentine sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and at the end of the program the entire group joined in the singing of "God Bless America" as the candles were being lighted. Hinds

Dean of Students, Dr. Barbara Blankenship ended the program with a prayer.

The program was first organized as a hall program by Allen-Whitaker and hall director Spring Heflin. But as it grew into "Operation Eagle Pride", they decided to include anyone who wished to participate and it was headed by hall directors Heflin, Bridgette Bell and Reni Bumpas along with the work of student resident assistants and other groups.

HCC Players present "The Elephant Man"

The Lendon Players are currently at work on the next performance of the season, The Elephant Man, written by Bernard Pomerance.

The play is based on a true story about John Merrick, better known around the world as the Elephant Man. Merrick was a horribly disfigured young Englishman who lived in the late 1800's. The movie version, released in 1982, starred John Hurt as the Elephant Man. Director Denise Halbach says, however, "don't come expecting to see the movie. This play focuses on what Merrick was like on the inside."

Halbach, who is in her tenth year as director for the Lendon Players, said that the play is written to be performed without using the makeup to show Merrick's horrible deformities. "Without makeup, the audience will see through to the core of the man. John Merrick was subjected to harsh and degrading cruelties at the hand of other men, yet he was still a good, loving, sensitive and forgiving man," Halbach said. To echo this statement, Halbach stated a meaningful line from the play, in which Merrick says, "I think my head is so big because it is so full of dreams." This drama will show how a man can rise above the misfortunes of nature — so long as he dares to dream.

Two guest artists will be performing in this production. Scott McGee, a former Hinds student who recently received a Bachelor's degree in Playwriting and Directing from the University of Northern Kentucky, will play the role of Dr. Frederick Treves, Merrick's doctor. Kenneth McDade, also a former Hinds student who has the distinction of being in the most Lendon Players productions—"This is about my fifteenth," he said—doubles as Lord

John and a London policeman.

Other male cast members include Phil Huskey (who will portray Merrick), John Turner, Bob Lanham, Jason Armit, Jody Pitts, and Eric Riggs. Female cast members are Jewel Jackson, Kim Youngblood, Steffanie Haskins, Laura Moore, and Vallie Penn.

The production will run four nights: February 27-28, and March 1-2. Hinds students, faculty and staff are admitted free with I.D. while others will pay $5 for adults and $3 for students.

Scholarships applications due March 1

Scholarships are available through the Hinds Community College Development Foundation for qualifying students entering Hinds Community College on a full-time basis.

The scholarships are awarded for up to four consecutive semesters, fall and spring semesters only, and are open to new high school graduates, returning Hinds sophomores and adults coming back to school, reports Jackie Granberry, director of Development. They are based on classroom excellence, involvement in school and community activities, financial need, desire for achievement, and letters of recommendation. Students must maintain full-time student status and a minimum 2.5 grade point average.

The deadline for filing for the scholarships is March 1. For more information about all Development Foundation scholarships, and to request an application, please contact the Hinds Community College Development office at 857-3363.

PARADE FOR SUPPORT—Hinds Community College students and faculty, along with Raymond residents marched from the Raymond town square to the Mayo Gym on the Hinds campus to show their support of Mississippians who are on active duty due to the war in the Persian Gulf. ## Tutors lend a helping hand

The HCC Remedial Education Program would like more volunteer tutors for its Basic Adult Literacy and "At Risk Youths" projects.

At this time some 12 HCC departments and student organizations and several staff members give support and tutorial services to the program.

Under the direction of J. Louis Stokes, executive assistant for special projects; Elloris Cooper, program director; and Bennie clay, instructor/coordinator, 31 Hinds students tutor regularly at Raymond High School with students who have demonstrated an inability to make a consistent level of progress in the structured classroom setting. The tutoring setting is improving their ability to cope in the regular classroom, and improving their preparedness for high school completion.

Cooper and Clay also direct several HCC staff members who tutor one or two evenings a week in various community settings, including the Raymond Campus administration building and the Hinds County Penal Farm. Among those Hinds employees are Dar Inwerson, Nadine Lawson, and Samantha Prim.

The departments and organizations assisting in tutoring efforts include the academic and vocational counselors, the accounting, biology, English, history, math and public relations departments, the Afro-American Cultural Society, The Development and Alumni Office, Financial Aid, Phi Theta Kappa (Raymond and Utica) and the student

Hinds Connection sets Mess America February 19

Come one, come all, to the 1991 "Mess America Pageant" sponsored by the Hinds Connection. All the fun will be held on Tuesday, February 19, at 6:30 p.m. in Cain Auditorium.

It will only cost $1.00 for you to see some of your favorite campus men express themselves as women in this pageant.

The beauties who will be vying for the title of "Mess America" will be judged on poise (if any), talent (or non-talent as the case may be), interview, physical appearance, and most important of all — audience appeal.

Any Hinds students or staff members who would like to try their luck at winning this prestigious pageant should contact the Development Office at 857-3363 or see a Hinds Connection member for an application.

A MANDATORY rehearsal for all contestants will be Monday, February 18, from 3:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. The deadline for applications is February 12.

Students are urged not to miss this annual event; it's guaranteed to make you laugh, howl and cry.

Attitudes Can Win

War. Death. Bombs. Missile raids. Destruction. The Draft. SCUDs. Patriots. Operation Desert Storm. Saddam Hussein.

War.

Does any of us—we students, I mean—really know what war is? Is the Persian Gulf War, as it is now called, something to be judged as a long all-out fight between two entire countries, or just a short crisis situation? What should we be prepared for?

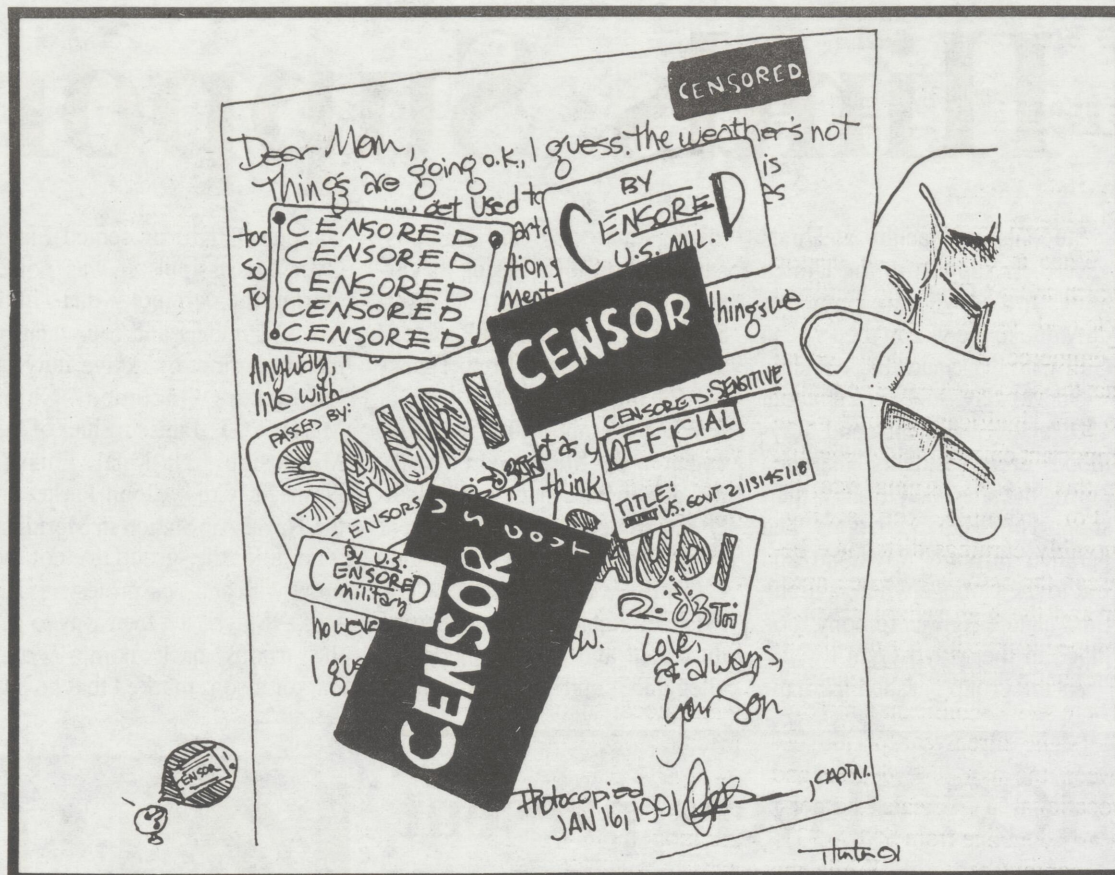

Anything.

We are all concerned already about the terrifying events that are and have taken place in the Middle East. Who knows if it will end in a week, or a month, or if our children will be reading about it in their seventh-grade American History books along with the Civil War, Vietnam and so on? No one really knows.

So what can we do? Pray for peace? Organize a Peace March? Start rationing our goods? In my opinion, none of these is enough. What we need to do is remember our heritage. We must examine what our country means to us, and how strong our national "system of living" is. We must remember how many advantages we have over people of other countries, and how often we take these luxuries for granted. Even attending a school, such as Hinds, is a dream that will never come true for some people in other countries.

But how does that help us win this war? Simple. It's the attitude. If we believe that our country is good enough, we can live through it. Of course, we do need to support our troops in Saudi Arabia, pray for our national decision-makers, and give needed support to people here who must deal with unnecessary losses.

The war is here, friends. But if we stay strong, and remain positive, we can emerge without a scratch.

What an associate degree is worth

by Dale Parnell
President, AACJC

What is an associate degree worth today? Dramatic statistics released recently by the U.S. Commerce Department reveal that the associate degree continues to gain significant ground as an important employment credential in this new "Learning Age."

For example, the average monthly earnings difference between the associate degree holder and the high school graduate jumped from $304 per month difference in 1984 to $537 in 1987. There was a significant jump over the same three-year period between the associate degree and vocational certificate holders, nearly doubling from $198 to $370 in monthly earnings. While the associate degree is coming on strong, the earnings difference between associate and bachelor's degree holders remains fairly constant from $352 to $371. Probably the most dramatic earnings difference was between the associate degree holder and the high school drop-out, which has grown from $773 in 1984 to a whopping $1,006 per month in 1987! We should be shouting this difference in earning power loud enough so that every potential high school drop-out in the country gets the message. (See chart.)

With our national high school drop-out rate currently at 27 percent, one cannot help but think, not only of this tremendous loss to our country in terms of a significant shortage of qualified people to fill workforce needs, but also of the loss of human potential and loss of individual hope that life can be better. Many people refer to the disadvantaged as the "at-risk population." They are not only at risk in terms of their own lives, but they create a risk to our society. The future economic strength of our country is in danger if our at-risk population is not empowered to enter the economic mainstream of American life.

One effective remedy for rescuing at-risk students and directing them on the path to the associate degree is already at work. Have you heard of the "Middle College"? It is a promising innovation in high school education. A Middle College is a fully accredited high school situated on a community, technical, or junior college campus and operated by the college, but jointly funded with a local school district. The Middle College operates with its own principal, faculty, and staff determining the curriculum and granting diplomas. The school district usually funds the faculty and staff and equips the school, while the college provides the building, heat, light, security, and adjunct faculty.

The Middle College usually is designed to serve the potential high school drop-out and at-risk students, with the students and parents making the choice of attending the Middle College rather than their local neighborhood high school. Students are usually recruited from local junior high or middle schools on the basis of academic potential and the estimated potential to profit from the school/college environment. "The power of the site cannot be underestimated as a factor in the success of the Middle College," says Cecelia Cullen, principal for the last nine years of the nation's first Middle College at La Guardia Community College in New York City. "They are students with poor school records, identified as potential drop-outs. . . . When they enroll in the Middle College, some very important things happen to them. . . . They sense that success is within their grasp," Cullen says.

Oliver North visits Jackson

by Trent Bates

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union. . . ." were the words to kick off for Marine Col. Oliver North's comments for a day of learning during the Freedom Alliance program at the holiday Inn in downtown Jackson.

North did not emphasize what was wrong with our city, state and nation. However, he stressed what an average young adult can do to change the aspects of our government that are not practical or simply not good for the voting majority of America.

As North continued talking to a gathering of approximately 200, it became more obvious what the retired colonel was trying to get across — a need for a more honest and sincere governing body at all levels.

How many times has one of you turned on a television or radio and heard reports of a politician involved in some type of illegal or immoral actions? The next thought many of us have is something like "That's a shame; he or she ought not be allowed to represent that district of tax-paying, voting citizens." Well, now there is a way to right the wrongs, and the ideas are not new to some — probably most!

North then introduced a panel of political, Freedom Alliance and public policy officials who explained strategies that can be used to insure honest government. North's main weapon for effective government is the voting booth.

"People in Nicaragua have to walk miles through jungles, even avoiding enemy fire just to cast a ballot! Vote!" said North. "Americans in 1776 weren't fighting to gain freedom, only to keep freedom from taxation and regulations under British rule. They objected to laws that wouldn't hurt them today, but would tomorrow."

This program was the first in a nationwide series of Freedom Alliance Seminars.

Freedom Alliance is a national grass-roots initiative headed by North, and aimed at mobilizing millions of Americans to bring accountability back to our government. This program was the first in a nationwide series of Freedom Alliance Seminars.

Amy Moritz, president of the National Center for Public Policy Research, made suggestions on improving our government. "Contact your Representative of congress with questions. Don't be vague with your questions; be specific so you'll get a yes-or-no response," said Moritz. "Radio talk-shows allow average citizens access to millions of listeners and your opinion will be heard." Moritz also said writing letters to the editor of your local newspaper is very easy and effective.

Roy Jones, a veteran of more than 30 political campaigns, now heads his own political consulting firm. He has also served as the Director of Coalitions Development for the National Republican Senatorial Committee. He presented a series of slides that showed how campaigns are developed and the mechanics that keep them going.

Jones urged that anyone interested in good government should consider volunteering to assist in the campaigns of their favorite candidates. Volunteers are most effective when they offer their own special skills.

U.S. Senator Trent Lott answered questions from the audience via telephone link from Washington, D.C. Also, Ben Hart, Executive Director of Freedom Alliance, addressed the audience. State Representative Ken Stribling prodded young voters to get involved. "When you get out of college, you'll learn that there are a lot of 'nay-sayers' out there that will discourage you if you let them. Don't let anybody discourage you. What's the worst that could happen?"

Hinds beats Co-Lin

With only three more games to play the Hinds basketball teams are getting near to the South Division Tournament which will be played at Pearl River Community College February 18-19 in Poplarville.

In their most recent action both the men's and women's team beat the Wolves of Copiah-Lincoln Community College with both games being tight and running neck and neck to the last minute of the game.

The women's team beat the Lady Wolves 65-62 pushing their total seasons wins to 14-6 and 6-2 in the South Division. After losing to Co-Lin in their first match of the season Hinds came back with a determined effort. This made only the second loss of the season for the Lady Wolves who now move to 17-2 overall. Hinds coach Lester Owens remarked, "Co-Lin played a hard game against us and we still have some tough games ahead in the South Division before we complete regular season play. Our strength is on the inside with the center and forwards."

Key players for the team this season include Donna Washington who is averaging 25.7 points a game and she is followed by Gwen Wilson who is averaging 16.0 per game. Other strong players for Hinds include forward Tonya McJimson, guard Zelda Bowman and guard Gwen Spann.

At present the men have a split season with a 10-10 overall record and 4-4 in the South Division.

In their game with Co-Lin it too was neck and neck and with less than two minutes to play the score was tied at 73-73 but Hinds pulled it out with a 80-76 win over the Wolves.

The three remaining South Division games remaining for Hinds include games at Utica with Jones on Thursday, February 7 and Monday, February 11 with Gulf Coast. The one remaining away game is East Central at Decatur on Thursday, February 14.

HCC baseball season opens February 26

Finishing up last season with a 28-18 record the Eagles home record was 21-7 while their away record was 7-11. Rick Clarke's team leaders last season included catcher Todd Mardis of Jackson with 12 home runs and 50 RBIs. Mardis was also named All-Region 23, All-State and All-South Division along with Van Reed of Vicksburg who also claimed the title as lead hitter with .387 and led with 26 stolen bases. Jeff Showah of Jackson won an Academic All-American award and along with Scot Cochran of Jackson both received the Co-Captains Awards. The Player of the Year Award went to Todd Mardis.

Clarke's returning starters for the 1991 season number three and include first baseman Steve Fisher of Brandon with a .318 and with 23 RBIs, catcher Todd Mardis and outfielder Tracy Maulding of Byram with a .274 batting average and 4 RBIs and 21 stolen bases.

Pitchers returning for the Eagles are Darren Dietrich of Clinton, 9-4, 2.86; Mark King of Winnsboro, LA, 4-2, 2.86; Todd Mardis, 1-3, 3.61 and Dusty Smith of Raymond, 5-3, 3.91. Other returnees for Hinds include Jay Hill of Brandon and Sam

Temple of Vicksburg.

Transfers joining the Eagle squad include Eric Ford of Brandon, a shortstop from Lee Community College; Greg Katulka of Amityville, NY, a 2nd baseman from USL; Paxton May of Clinton, a pitcher from Mississippi State; Chris Richard of Sulphur, LA, an outfielder from USL; and Shane Upshaw of Yazoo City, an outfielder from Holmes.

New to the Hinds team this season will be Jason Brown, a designated hitter from Pearl; Mike Caldwell, an outfielder from Brandon; Shannon Canard, a pitcher from Brandon; Jason Castro, a pitcher from Abbeville, LA; Kyle Cook, an outfielder from Clinton; Scot Hebert, 1st baseman from Abbeville, LA; Jamie Lott, a pitcher from Florence; Troy Nelson, a pitcher from Tallahassee, FL; Shank Phelps, a catcher from Starkville; Chris Richard, outfielder from Sulphur, LA; Jeff Richburg, a 2nd baseman from Jackson; Tyrone Rivers, a 2nd baseman from Chicago, IL; Albert Sweet, a 3rd baseman from Vicksburg; Gene Washington, an outfielder from Jackson; and David Worrell, a pitcher from Raymond.

After looking at last season's division standings with Hinds in fifth place with a 10-12 record Clarke remarked, "I believe that this season you will see a completely new ball club on the field and hopefully the end results will be in the plus column this time."

HINDS WINS — The Hinds Lady Eagles won over the Copiah-Lincoln Lady Wolves 65-62 last week upsetting the nationally ranked Co-Lin team and giving them their second loss of the season putting them at 17-2 and moving Hinds to 14-6 overall and 6-2 in the South Division. Pictured is Hinds Tonya McJimson making a shot for the Lady Eagles against the Lady Wolves.

Art Horizons opens competition

NEW YORK, NY — International Art Horizons has announced deadlines and $30,000 in prizes in the 10th New York-international art competition, which is open to artists working in a number of different art media.

The competition is open to all students and to emerging as well as established artists working in the following fields: painting, drawing, sculpture, watercolors, mixed media, photography, print-making, pastels, miniature art, illustration, graphic art, computer art, metalwork, fibers/textiles, furniture, ceramics, jewelry, glass, woodworking, and design.

Applicants will submit slides to be judged by these distinguished jurors: Lynn Zelavansky (Museum of Modern Art, New York), Nadine Grabania (Frick Art Museum, Pennsylvania), Roger Selby (Boca Raton Museum of Art, Florida), Marla Price (Modern Art Museum, Texas), and Ruth Meyer (Taft Museum, Ohio).

An exhibition of the winning art works will again be held at the elegant Art 54 Gallery in the heart of New York's Soho district in June, 1991.

Steve Wade, spokesperson for International Art Horizons, noted the advantages to entrants in this New York competition: "This is by far the most economical way for students and artists to gain exposure in New York, the center of the art world. They won't have to travel to the numerous New York galleries themselves, yet the major collectors, critics and gallery owners can see their work. The artists will benefit from the competition's fine jurors, and its professional, experienced and caring staff. And there are no politics in this competition — the only criterion is the quality of the work."

This New York-International Art Competition is one of only three major art competitions recommended by the prestigious New York-International Art Competitions Organization (NYIACO).

Entrants must use an official application form. To receive one they should simply send a postcard to: International Art Horizons, Dept. RASU, PO Box 1533, Ridgewood, NJ 07450. They may also telephone (201-487-7277) or fax (201-488-4004) their requests.

Deadline for submission of application forms with slides is April 12, 1991.

PIANO FESTIVAL—Vivian McKell, J. C. Terry, Christine Irwin and Kim Youngblood, piano students from the Raymond Campus, performed in the annual Sonata-Sonatina festival sponsored by the Music Forum of Jackson. Each entrant played a memorized movement of a sonata for two out-of-state judges who graded and offered critical comments. All four students received certificates of participation with McKell receiving Honorable Mention and Youngblood being awarded a silver medal.

Entertainment Review...by Tabitha Prestwood

Recently I went in search of some wholesome entertainment that was challenging as well as stimulating and I was able to find five movies that were very enjoyable and well worth the money.

Dances With Wolves is a movie that takes place after the Civil War where a young war hero played by Kevin Costner, requests to be sent to the West where he finds out how the Indians are treated. He befriends them and becomes one of the tribe and while the movie takes you over the many trials he has which included the language barrier, he learns to trust the Indians. A very enjoyable and long three hour movie with an excellent ending and some have compared to it as the "Gone With the Wind" of the 90s.

Kindergarten Cop takes place in the most dreaded battlefield, the kindergarten classroom. A young cop, played by Arnold Schwarzenegger, is sent with a young woman partner to search for a mother and son who have fled from a distraught father who is after them for taking millions of his money. Arnold's partner became sick and Arnold is left to take her roles as the kindergarten teacher. A cute comedy, the movie shows Schwarzenegger as a compassionate, caring man instead of his usual hard hitting role. A must to see movie.

Lionheart is for karate fans or Jean Claude Van Damme fans. He plays a soldier in the foreign legion who escapes to go home to take care of his murdered brother's wife and daughter. He attempts to hide from the foreign legion who is chasing him and finds compassion towards kids as they all become family.

“Operation Eagle Pride”

Hinds students and faculty along with local Raymond residents gave their support to the American troops that have been activated due to the war in the Persian Gulf. A march from Raymond to the campus and then a candle light vigil was held in the Mayo Gym that included speeches, prayers, and singing. The event, “Operation Eagle Pride” was organized by hall directors Sping Heflin, Bridgette Bell and Reni Bumpas.

is forgotten at home as his family goes on Christmas vacation to Paris but not realizing they have left him at home. As he tries to keep burglars from breaking into his home there are some hilarious scenes where he ingeniously creates ways to attract the burglars.

Edward Scissorhands is a fantasy fairy tale of a young "Frankenstein" who is pulled into society at first as a phenomom and then later treated as a freak. The movie stars Johnny Depp and Winona Ryder who make you believe Edward Scissorhands is real and magic is possible. A must see movie also.

Thursday, March 7, the Criminal Justice department will hold a trial for the "busted" individuals from Monday's activities. Friday will be Project A.W.A.R.E. and hand out ordinances from Florida communities.

Students and faculty are encouraged to attend the planned activities and watch for a more detailed schedule that will be placed around the campus.

Miss Hinds pageant scheduled March 27

Wednesday, March 27, has been set as the date of the Miss Hinds Community College Pageant that will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Cain Hall Auditorium on the Raymond Campus.

Applications for the pageant can be picked up at pageant director Anna Bee's office in the Women's Gymnasium or at the public relations office in the Student Union Building. Applicants must be 18 to 25 years of age, and the deadline for applying is February 21.

A panel of out-of-town judges, approved by the Miss Mississippi Pageant, will be present to select the 1991 Miss Hinds. The winner will then go on to represent the College in Vicksburg this July in the Miss Mississippi Pageant.

The Miss Hinds Pageant is an official preliminary to the Miss Mississippi Pageant, with the winner competing in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Contestants in the Miss Hinds Pageant will be judged on talent (with a limit of two minutes and fifty seconds), interview, which will be on the afternoon of the pageant, swimsuit and evening gown competition. According to Mrs. Bee, "From Atlantic City, the scoring will consist of 40% talent, 30% interview, 15% evening gown, and 15% swimsuit."

The new Miss Hinds will be crowned by Hinds President, Dr. Clyde Muse, and the winner of the 1990 Miss Hinds Pageant Dawn Rabon, a student at Mississippi College this semester.

Master of Ceremonies for the Miss Hinds Pageant will be Alon Bee, Jr. and Mrs. Vashti Muse will be the judges' hostess. Circle K will be in charge of decorations and staging, with Jack Hite in charge of sound.

The admission will be $2 with a student I.D. and $4.00 for non-students, with the proceeds going to offset expenses of the panel of judges, the Miss Mississippi franchise fee, and the scholarship money going to the winner.

Hinds has long been noted for its beauty pageants, being the first junior college to send a contestant to the Miss Mississippi Pageant. This year will be Hinds' thirty-second consecutive year to participate in the Miss Mississippi Pageant.

Dr. George Moody joins Hinds staff

Dr. George Moody joined the staff of Hinds Community College January 1 as Executive Assistant to the President, for Special Projects. Moody recently retired as executive director of the State Board for Community and Junior Colleges after 20 years of service.

Moody will work in a part-time capacity for Hinds. His primary responsibility will be to assist Dr. Clyde Muse with legislative matters. Muse serves as legislative chair for the Mississippi Association of Community and Junior Colleges. Moody will also chair the Instructional Affairs Council and maintain the College Catalog.

January through March, legislative matters will set Moody's schedule. His job: to acquaint the legislators with the community colleges and their needs and to maintain a continuous presence in the Capitol, monitoring the progress of legislation which affects the two-year colleges.

He states, "It will be a difficult session, considering there is already a division between the legislature and the executive office."

However, he looks forward to time spent on campus, remarking, "I've frequently said the thing I missed at the state office was being on campus with the student body and its faculty."

Moody began his education career as a math teacher. Prior to working for the state office for community and junior colleges, Moody served at Pearl River Junior College as an instructor of mathematics, director of federal programs, and business manager.

Moody is a graduate of Pearl River Community College and Mississippi State University. He received both his M.Ed. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Southern Mississippi.

"Pink Thunderbird" opens for four day run

by John Turner

A unique concept in theatre will occur during the production of 1959 Pink Thunderbird, set to run April 24-27 on the Raymond Campus.

Thunderbird is actually two plays in one. The title is only an umbrella name for two separate one-act plays, written by James McLure. Both one-acts are about the same people in the same place — Maynard, Texas.

The first act, entitled Laundry and Bourbon, is directed by Scott McGee, a former Hinds student. McGee recently received a Bachelor of Arts degree in acting and directing from Northern Kentucky University. His last appearance on the Hinds stage was as Dr. Treves in The Elephant Man earlier this year. While a student at Hinds, McGee appeared in leading roles in The Lion in Winter and The Miss Firecracker Contest, among others. He also directed a one-act, Impromptu, while a student here.

Laundry and Bourbon is, for lack of better words, about just that — three women sitting around doing laundry and drinking burbon. "L & B is a slice of life, easily related to the present, showing how small towns haven't changed much," McGee said. "It's about major decisions that are made right out of high school, and how they affect these women."

The second act, on the flip side, is about the women's husbands, who are horsing around behind a bar. Entitled Lone Star and directed by Denise Halbach, it shows the opposite viewpoint of smalltown life — the male opinion. "This act focuses on Roy, the husband of the lead character in L & B, who wants life like it was in high school. He seems unwilling to change and wants things as they were in his youth," Halbach said. This statement is echoed when Roy says, "When you're trying to come back to a place in your mind you want it to

Sunset Drive changes name

The Jackson Campus "Sunset Drive Center" is now a thing of the past.

In its February meeting, the Board of Trustees approved the Center's change of name to "Jackson Campus Academic & Technical Center," to accurately reflect the course offerings at that location, according to Dr. Terry Puckett, vice president for Jackson Campus and Branch Operations.

"The old name had a neighborhood sound and was too limited in terms of the community we hope to serve, which includes the entire Jackson area," says Puckett.

Puckett also announced plans for a new building at the Center, which, he said is expected to be completed by the spring of 1992. This building will house additional computer and science labs and make room for new and expanded academic transfer programs, according to Puckett.

This location first opened its doors as the "Jackson Branch" in 1970, offering only vocational and technical programs. It was not until 1984, according to Puckett, that the Mississippi

Junior College Commission (presently the State Board of Community and Junior Colleges) approved the offering of academic programs for full-time students, and the location assumed the Sunset Drive Center name.

The multi-center Jackson Campus, comprised of three centers, was unique in its primary offerings: the Nursing/Allied Health Center for health care programs; the Universities Center for academic programs; and the Sunset Drive Center for its academic and technical programs, says Puckett.

The First Day of My Summer Vacation

by John Turner

"Summer-tiiiiime . . . and the livin' is easy . . ."

It's getting to be that time again, fellow students! Summer-time is here. Any images come to mind? For me, it's sitting by a glistening pool on a broiling afternoon, drinking Coke and listening to the radio, no worries or nothin'. But not this summer. This summer, it's "Gotta be at work by nine. . ."

I hate summer jobs, don't you? No weekend vacation, you're a always busy . . . I think the whole world should take off three months from June to August. I mean, it really throws off my schedule!

But on the serious side, just about every student must have a summer job. And they're not that easy to find, either. Plus, once you do get one, you're not very motivated because you know (and your boss knows, too) that you're going to leave in a few months. It's just not fair!

But it is fair. Part-time summer jobs give us valuable experience. Not only that, you can make a few bucks. But how to get one? Here are a few tips I've picked up over the years:

1. Be aggressive. Search endlessly! And if you've found one that looks interesting, be persistent. Employers like go-getters.
2. Be up-front. During your interview, tell the employer straight out that you will only be available for the summer months. If the employer wants you, he'll get you. Which brings up a third point:
3. Be outgoing & knowledgeable. Act like you were made to work at that particular store. Try to fit in with the workers when you go for the interview, too. I once went so far as to scout the place out to see how the other employees dressed; then I dressed similarly for my interview. I got the job.
4. Again, be persistent! Even though you cringe at the very thought of working during the summer, don't let up—especially with a possible employer.

Now, to round off, here's a funny little anecdote I heard about getting a summer job entitled "How I Spent My Summer Vacation." You Comp I students just might want to take a gander:

The first day of my summer vacation, I woke up. Then I went downtown to look for a job. Then I hung out in front of the drugstore.

The second day of my vacation, I woke up. Then I went downtown to look for a job. Then I hung out in front of the drugstore.

The third day of my vacation, I woke up. Then I went downtown to look for a job. Then I hung out in front of the drugstore.

The fourth day of my vacation, I woke up. Then I went downtown to look for a job. Then I got a job—keeping people from hanging out in front of the drugstore.

Student's Response to Welty's Reading

by Linda Nelson
Honors Literature Student

On March 18, 1991, I had the opportunity of seeing Eudora Welty in person on the opening day of Arts Week at Hinds Community College. She had agreed to come and read one of her selected works to start off this annual cultural event and it was a great honor and privilege to have such a renowned literary personage to visit.

I have never read any of Ms. Welty's works so my impressions of this lady and her writings have been drawn solely from this presentation. In all ignorance of my subject matter, I will state that upon visual observation of her person, bearing, and comments, this lady comes across as a very real human being, not the expected literary genius type who wows one, but a very discerning, honest and unassuming woman who seems to have made the most of her gifts in life and little of any misfortune. A private person, her energies seem to have been directed into her art, not in impressing her public and creating an image.

The story of her choice to read showed a sincere desire to bring pleasure to her audience and a purpose to her presence there. The Whistle, the story of an aging country couple, was derived from her experiences in and around the Utica area, which she hoped would appeal to most of her audience due to the familiarity of the area. Once she began to read, this very simple, straightforward plot soon turned into a deep philosophical insight into the human soul. Her ability with vivid descriptive details brought such clarity to mental images that the reader (or listener in this case) felt as if she were seeing the story unfold rather than imagining it from mere words. If her mastery over the English vocabulary wasn't enough to impress me with her literary status, then her deep insight into life's little nuances and deeper meanings should have. What is unique about her style of writing, though, is that all this deep philosophical matter is divulged in such a simple, moving, and evocative fashion that what might have been heavy reading became rather more like a moving experience.

Ms. Welty's own particular brand of reticence attracts people as they come to know of her through her writings. Much like the mystery of a still, deep pond I might stumble across in the woods, I feel drawn to Miss Welty's writing by its very quietness and I feel privileged to have found it.

Thank you Hinds Community College for this opportunity, and thank you Miss Welty.

MUSE HONORED — Vashti Muse, developmental reading instructor for the Raymond Campus, receives a concurrent Resolution sponsored by the Mississippi Senate and House of Representatives. The Resolution commends Muse on her being elected president of the National Association for Developmental Education. Muse was inducted into office in March. Presenting the Resolution is Lieutenant Governor Brad Dye.

Fire damages Vo-Tech building

A fire damaged two Hinds departments in the Vocational—Technical Building on the Raymond Campus on April 15.

A fire in an instructor's office and a storage room in the machine shop was caused by an electrical short in a wall of the instructor's office.

Other departments had smoke damage but not enough to interfere with classes, according to Pat Flaherty, chief of the Raymond Volunteer Fire Department and also Dean of Vocational—Technical Education at Hinds.

The Byram Fire Department also fought the fire which was reported during the lunch period while students were away from the building.

It took about 30 minutes to extinguish the fire and there were no injuries.

Business Technology helps Leukemia Society

Twenty-one volunteers from the Business Technology classes on the Raymond Campus of Hinds Community College participated February 28 in a Type-A-Thon sponsored by the Leukemia Society of America, Inc. Students participated under the direction of Mrs. Lucretia Berry, Business Technology instructor.

Student participants secured pledges for each correctly typed word during a 5-minute timed test. The $517 collected will go to the Leukemia Society, a non-profit organization dedicated to research and patient aid, to benefit over 300 Mississippi leukemia patients. Leukemia is a disease of the blood-forming tissues which kills more children than any other disease. Leukemia and its allied diseases will strike some 82,600 this year and kill 46,800. This program provides an opportunity for typists to sharpen their skills while giving leukemia patients hope for a future.

Leukemia Society program coordinator, Julie Green said, "We are very excited about Hinds Community College's participation in our Type-A-Thon. With continued support of their caliber, we will be able to close in on this killer disease."

New Clubhouse at Eagle Ridge

Along with a new name for the College golf course, comes a new clubhouse.

Since November 1, 1990, the Eagle Ridge Golf Course, at Raymond Lake, has been the site of an exciting construction project with the building of a new 3568 sq. ft. $440,000 golf clubhouse facility.

According to Eagle Ridge manager and pro, Anthony Price, the clubhouse will offer a grill, and a spacious and inviting pro shop where patrons will find "everything you need to play golf." also included in the interior plans are expanded men's and women's restrooms which will feature lockers and showers.

Outside of the grill, a new patio and adjacent driving range will eventually be lighted for night use, Price says.

With a 'Louisiana style plantation house porch' encircling the outside of the building, "every area will more functional," states Price, who comments, "The whole atmosphere of the golf course and the clubhouse will be as top of the line as you can go."

Any improvements to the golf course, which in addition to the new clubhouse includes a new fairway watering system, are paid for with revenue from the golf course, states Tom Wasson, District director of auxiliary services.

New cafeteria plans underway

by John Turner

"September of 1991" is the expected date for construction of a new cafeteria on the Raymond Campus, according to Troy Henderson, vice president for Physical Plant and Auxiliary Services. The building which has not yet been named, will be constructed in such a way that it, Denton Gym, and the Student Union Building will all mark one large structure.

Bids for construction of the building will be received in August of this year. "The main building will consist of a large student dining area, seating approximately 425 students," Henderson said. "The smaller faculty dining room will seat about 87 people." The one-story facility will have an area of 23,573 square feet. Eley and Associates, architects for the project, have rendered several drawings of the design, one of which is shown here.

The project, which has a budget of $5 million, is expected to be completed in January of 1993. Mr. Henderson said nothing has been decided about use for the present cafeteria facility.

Entertainment Review

by John Turner

Remember that video of the woman falling off the horse? Or the one of the boy who rips his father's toupee off his head? Weren't those funny? They were to me.

But why?

Everyone — and I mean everyone — has seen countless hilarious snippets on the top-rated America's Funniest Home Videos. I always schedule my Sunday nights around that show, leaving 7 to 8 PM open (America's Funniest People, a spinoff of AFHV, can be cute sometimes, too). But what makes us laugh at these usually stupid, sometimes funny homemade flicks?

I guess it's just that — they're homemade. Trying to imagine being the person filming the foul-up is half the fun to me. Plus, we've all seen pratfalls or dumb tricks like that and wish to the heavens we had a camcorder to film it. Every Sunday night at 7, though, we can see 30 minutes of them.

The idea for AFHV came from a highly successful Japanese series called Fun With Ken and Kato Chan. This show was even more wildly successful than our American version; it brought us laughs like The Chinese Screamer, who has been featured on various shows in the U.S. With approximately 1,600 tapes coming in daily, the AFHV researchers hardly have a chance to breathe.

Several spinoffs have made attempts at stealing some of the show's popularity; one has been somewhat successful. Roggin's Heroes, which airs Sunday nights at 10:30 on WAPT in Jackson, shows not only home videos, but sports, news, and foreign bloopers as well. One segment of this show, called the "Hall of Shame", is especially satisfying. This five-minute fugue shows various tantrums, fights, etc., in the worlds of sports, news and the like. Also featured on this show every few episodes is the aforementioned Chinese Screamer, who walks the streets, startling people with his loud yells in their unsuspecting ear.

New shows like these have given new meaning to the word "camcorder", and the electronics industry is thankful for them. So the next time you witness a funny event about to occur, grab your video camera — you could be a star.

Speech Students Win Awards

The Mississippi Individual Events Championship Tournament, sponsored by the Mississippi Speech Communication Association, was held on the Mississippi College campus in Clinton, Mississippi, on Friday, April 12, 1991.

Seven colleges from around the state were competing in this state level tournament. Four Hinds Community College students participated in the Persuasive Speaking Contest which was part of this tournament. The four students were Phil Huskey, Shea Turner, Andrea Smith, and Denise Guinn.

These four students were finalists in the HCC Persuasive Speaking Contest which was held on the Raymond campus Tuesday, April 9. HCC students brought home three trophies from the State Contest: First Place — Denise Guinn, Third Place — Phil Huskey, and Fourth Place — Shea Turner.

Muse Scholarship given by family

Vashti Muse gave her husband an anniversary gift that will go on giving long after Dr. Vernon Clyde Muse retires as president of Hinds Community College. Mrs. Muse, with their children, have established the Dr. Vernon Clyde Muse Scholarship in honor of Dr. Muse's lifelong devotion to the field of education.

The family has pledged to bring the scholarship to a $10,000 endowment, according to Jackie Granberry, director of Development. When the endowment is reached, the Dr. Vernon Clyde Muse Scholarship will be awarded annually to a full-time Hinds Community College student enrolled in an academic transfer program.

Dr. Muse, president of Hinds Community College since 1978, is a native of Winborn, Mississippi. He first attended college at East Central Junior College, and earned advanced degrees at Delta

State University and Mississippi State University. Prior to his tenure at Hind Community College, Dr. Muse served as superintendent of the Meridian Separate School District, Hinds County Superintendent of Education, assistant superintendent of the Starkville public schools, and he served on the faculty of the Canton public schools.

"This scholarship is a further testimony to the Muses' lifetime devotion to education. At Hinds, Dr. Muse prompted the creation of the Development Foundation. It was his belief that student scholarships should have the highest priority. He has said that a community college scholarship made possible his higher education beginnings. Therefore, it is especially significant that the Muse family has chosen to make a new scholarship available to Hinds Community College students," says Granberry.

Tuition & Fees Rise for 1991 - 1992

Tuition at Hinds Community College will increase 20 percent this fall as the College rebounds from a $1.3 million reduction in state appropriations for fiscal year 1992, according to Dr. Clyde Muse, president of Hinds.

The HCC Board of Trustees has set tuition at $408 per semester, up from $340. The semester hourly rate goes from $40 to $45; and out-of-state tuition is up from $735 to $882, in addition to regular tuition. Room rates and board cost for residence hall students will increase by five percent and six and one-half percent respectively.

The latest reduction in state appropriations have Mississippi's 15 community colleges operating at funding levels below two years ago, while community college enrollment continues to grow at a rate of six percent per year, says Muse. The state's community colleges had a combined enrollment of 66,000 students this year; an enrollment larger than any other segment of higher education in the state.

Improve your image

Guys and girls who want to learn how to improve their personal image and develop self confidence would benefit from the 3 hour course Fashion Modeling (TMD 2213) according to Jerry Roberts, chairman of the Marketing Management Technology department.

"Anyone can take this course," says Roberts. "It is taught by Barbara Mayo, who is a professional model and fashion show coordinator for several local department stores; and an image consultant who gives seminars for organizations and businesses."

"Students will also learn professional etiquette, basic modeling technique, and professional wardrobing, along with many other things that would prove helpful as students go out into the business world," Roberts states.

The class will be taught this fall on Tuesday and Thursday, at 8 AM in Gibbs Hall 105. Advance Registration for fall continues through May 24, and begins again July 10, through August 9.

"Presidential Speaking"

by
Dr. Clyde Muse

I appreciate the contribution that all faculty, staff, and students have made to our success this year. Hinds Community College exists for students. I hope that your experiences here have been pleasurable and rewarding and that the excitement of learning will not fade. For those who have not finished the college's offerings in your course of study, I welcome your return to Hinds Community College to continue your studies with us. Whatever your future plans may be, I trust that you will continue your education — a life long process. At no time has it been more incumbent upon an individual to keep up with the rapidly changing needs of our society, to adjust to the demands of the job market, to upgrade old skills and to learn new ones, and to learn about other cultures and people. There is always more to be learned.

As the school year draws to a close, my wife, Vashti, and I have the pleasure of attending events which recognize the contributions and achievements of a great number of Hinds Community College students. As we meet with and speak to these students, we can't help but feel their pride and share their success. We know that Hinds Community College will always hold a special place in their memories, as it will ours.

Each year brings a new group of students, a more ambitious set of goals for the College, and a consistent display of hard work from our students, faculty, and staff as the College works to maintain its commitment to quality education.

I hope that all of you who are finishing your work with us will become active members of the Alumni Association. We would like to stay in touch. Best wishes for a good vacation.
